Baton Rouge, La., April 11.—(AP)—The house committee of the Louisiana legislature by a vote of 50 to 40 impeached Governor Huey P. Long today on a combined count of attempts to bribe two legislators to vote for his proposed tax on oil, received testimony from a preacher on the young governor's "gun toting" and again tackled the question of his alleged attempts to wrest control of the state educational system.

The senate which will try the governor, in session only a few minutes, received the report of the rules committee giving the house until April 22 to complete action on the 19 counts of impeachment and then set a date for trial. The rules will be acted upon tomorrow.

The anti-impeachment today registered the same number of votes on the second count as they claimed on the first count now before the senate and charging Governor Long with attempted intimidation of C. P. Murphy, Baton Rouge publisher. The impeachment group fell shy two votes today.

Governor Defended.
Before the members and a comfortably filled gallery Representative J. H. McClanahan, of Caldwell parish, a former administration whip, came to defense of the governor on the vote of bribery.

Bribery as charged in the impeachment resolutions, Mr. McClanahan stated through the microphone, "has been in vogue in Louisiana from time immemorial."

He directed an attack against the state press which turned on Long during the special session, declaring that he knew of an instance where a publisher and manager of a daily newspaper went to the manager of a weekly and told the weekly publisher it was time for him to turn and "not stop until we get Huey Long."

His speech drew a reply from Representative Gilbert Dupre, of St. Landry parish.

"I am deaf but there is nothing wrong with my sense of sight," Mr. Dupre exclaimed. "I can see better than that. He must think we are fools and pinheads with brains of canary birds. The governors have given patronage where it would do the most good. But never have they approached a legislator to influence his voting."

The charge against the governor which will go to the senate for trial, is that the governor offered Representative Adolphe Gueymard, of Terrebonne parish, remuneration employment in return for their support of administrative legislative measures.

Mentions Chorus Girls.
Rev. J. V. Tinnin, pastor of the First Baptist church at Natchitoches, La., testifying at the afternoon session of the Louisiana impeachment action against Governor Huey P. Long, said the governor remarked to him that he had "rather talk about chorus girls" than discuss the removal of a college president.

Rev. Mr. Tinnin was asked whether he talked with the governor about the "dismissal" of President V. L. Roy of the State Normal college.

"The governor said he was going to remove Mr. Roy and put a Long man in."

Before the witness was dismissed, he was questioned under charge number nine that the governor habitually carried concealed weapons on his person.

Representative Cecile Morgan, of Calhoun, asked:

"Have you ever seen a weapon on Mr. Long?"

"I do not wish to testify in this case," the witness answered, but when pressed by Mr. Morgan, answered "yes."

"I Couldn't Afford Two Wives" Is Reason Given
Arresting Officers by
New Jersey Slayer.

Elizabeth, N. J., April 11.—(AP)—Henry Colin Campbell, 60, was arrested tonight and has signed a statement, police announced, confessing to the murder of Mrs. Benjamin S. Mowry, whom he married last August in Maryland. He shot her through the head and threw her body to the side of a road after setting fire to the clothing, the confession related.

Campbell was seized as he was about to enter his home not far from the morgue in which his victim's body lay unidentified until today. He was taken to the Union county prosecutor's office, where he signed a confession.

The man denied all connection with the murder of Miss Margaret Brown, New York governess, whose burning body was found in a road near Bernardsville. Her slayer has not been apprehended. Campbell is the father of three children.

His first wife, mother of the children, still is living. "I couldn't afford two wives," was the reason he gave for taking his second wife's life.

He said he had met the woman later killed through a matrimonial agency and had a personal interview with her in Washington, D. C., in February, 1928. The following August they were married at Elkton, Maryland.

On February 23, of this year, he drove with the former Mrs. Mowry to Springfield avenue, Cranford, and was seized with a sudden fear that his first wife would discover his other marriage. He shot the woman in the head and dragged her body to the roadside, dousing it with gasoline. Touching a match to the figure, he stepped back in his car and drove off.

2 NEW TRACTS TO BE OFFERED FOR P. O. SITE

Firemasters May Give Realty Men Options on Spring-Trinity and Spring-Alabama Sites.

Possibility that the United States government may establish the projected new federal building in Atlanta on the block bounded by Forsyth, Spring, Hunter and Alabama streets or the block bounded by Forsyth, Spring and Garnett streets and Trinity avenue looked Thursday night, when it was learned that a special meeting of the Atlanta board of firemasters had been called for 2 o'clock this afternoon to consider giving real estate operators who wish to submit bids an option on sites now occupied by fire stations No. 1 and No. 5.

Councilman William E. Saunders, chairman, declared that the board had been called into special session at the request of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale for the purpose of setting the prices for the fire station sites in order that real estate men seeking options on the property may be able to submit them to the government in accordance with advertisements which have been published.

A total of $450,000 now is available for acquiring the site and beginning construction of the new postoffice building, which also would house all departments maintained in Atlanta by the federal government. Another $1,050,000 will be available to complete the job, making a total investment of $2,500,000.

Station No. 1 Relocation.
In the event the government accepts the first of the options now being obtained by the Title Guaranty and Trust Company, station No. 1, headquarters company, would be forced to vacate and steps to relocate it would be taken immediately. It would necessitate many changes in the department, the major one being relocation of the entire signal system.

Preliminary plans for development of the field, which experts declare is absolutely essential. Our meeting Friday morning will be a survey which will acquaint the Fulton county commissioners with our problems, which they have generously offered to assist in solving."

Longer, Wider Runways.
"Runways must be widened and lengthened if we are to keep in the fore in aeronautical activities. Atlanta must do this. We also must construct the apron, which experts declare is absolutely essential. Our meeting Friday morning will be a survey which will acquaint the Fulton county commissioners with our problems, which they have generously offered to assist in solving."

Two Outer Relocations.
Relocation of two other downtown stations, No. 4, on North Pryor street, and No. 8, at Carnegie Way and Spring streets, also will be up for consideration. Massell Realty Company has plans to bid for the Spring street property, and an exchange of property on Pryor street for a Courtland avenue tract also will be up for consideration.

GOVERNOR, TATE TO CONFER TODAY

Two Highway Board
Members To Work With
Executive on Business
Policy.

Gov. L. G. Hardman will insist upon the adoption of strictly business and conservative methods in letting future contracts for road building in Georgia and Thursday received the assurance of John R. Phillips, of Louisville, and Stanley S. Bennett, of Quitman, associate members of the state highway board, that they will co-operate with him in carrying out such a policy, it was announced by the governor.

It also was stated by the executive that he will hold a conference today with Sam Tate, of Tate, Ga., who will succeed John N. Holder as chairman of the highway board June 1, relative to his views concerning the future administration of the department.

Announcement of the governor came after he had conferred with Mr. Phillips and Mr. Bennett, who were in Atlanta to attend a session of the Atlanta board of firemasters on Thursday night. Mr. Holder accepted his offer of resignation and his family for a number of years. It was while taking tea with Mrs. Hoover at her Palo Alto home several months before the election that the Minger had jokingly said: "I want to sing the first recital in the White House for you."

In the same spirit, Mr. Holder accepted his offer of resignation and his family for a number of years. It was while taking tea with Mrs. Hoover at her Palo Alto home several months before the election that the Minger had jokingly said: "I want to sing the first recital in the White House for you."

Laurens Delegation.
One delegation from Laurens county was composed of 30 people and 10 of them made speeches demanding emphatically that the board act as soon as possible in paving the highway from Dublin to Scotts. Chairman John N. Holder, the highway board, was not present at the highway board, which was held at the home of Jasper, Ga., to attend the funeral of a friend.

According to figures submitted to the governor by the two members of the board, there will be available $4,000,000 for road construction during the fiscal year of 1929 and approximately $11,000,000 in 1930. According to a ruling of Attorney-General George M. Napier, the state highway board was constituted at present, with Mr. Holder as chairman, would have legal authority to let contracts covering these available funds for the two years, but the two associate commissioners assured the governor they would be glad to follow his wishes concerning the disposition of the available funds, it was stated by the governor.

Make Known Views.
After hearing the statements of the two associate members and after receiving a statement of the program containing a list of the projects the board recommended should be built, the governor announced that he would take the matter under consideration and make known his views after he holds a conference with Colonel Tate today.

The program submitted to the governor covering the $4,000,000 available out of the 1929 funds, contains projects which the board stated should be constructed so that the machinery.

Council's Aviation Com-

To Make Joint Inspection of Candler Field.

First steps in making Candler field, Atlanta's airport, the best in the entire south will be taken at 8 o'clock this morning when members of the aviation committee of city council and the Fulton county commission will inspect the 300-acre tract which the city has voted to purchase with a view of placing it in Class "A" condition.

Announcement of the joint survey was made by Councilman Ellis B. Barrett, of the fifth ward, and chairman of the aviation committee of city council.

Extension of runways until they will be a minimum of 2,700 feet in every direction and 200 feet wide; construction of a concrete apron 300 feet wide in front of hangars to eliminate dust while planes are being warmed up will be among the first projects which will be completed, according to Mr. Barrett.

To Map Improvements.
The meeting today will be for the purpose of ascertaining just what the commissioners plan to do in assisting in development of the improvement which, it is declared, will insure Atlanta's place as the hub of southern aviation activities.

"I have every reason to believe that the county is prepared to begin the improvement of the field at once," Mr. Barrett stated Thursday night. "I feel sure that the work will be carried out to an uninterrupted conclusion, as every member of the commission is cognizant of the importance of providing an adequately equipped field to further Atlanta's progress in aviation."

STEPS TO REPAIR WALL TO BE TAKEN TUESDAY

Buildings and Grounds Committee of School Board Will Seek Relief Measure.

Steps to eliminate danger of collapse of the north wall of the shop building at the Henry Grady School for Boys will be worked out at a meeting of the buildings and grounds committee of the board of education tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday at the administration building of the school department, it was announced Thursday by William C. Slate, chairman.

Scores of students of Tech High school who take shop courses daily use the shop building of which the questionable wall is a part, and Mr. Slate declared that he would ask his committee to take some relief measures in order to obviate any possibility of its falling.

Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, declared that though the wall seems to be safe, the danger that it might fall remains, although the department has done everything possible to repair it without strengthening the foundation. It is the sinking foundation which caused the break in the wall.

W. O. Cheney, principal of Tech High school, pointed out the danger several months ago and the board of education made an effort to repair the wall by providing supports.

Mrs. J. R. Morgan, president of the Parent-Teacher Association of Tech High school, Thursday called on authorities to take remedial measures to insure the safety of students.

Mix yolks of four boiled eggs with butter or salad oil. Seasoning, two teaspoons sugar, four tablespoons vinegar. Beat until light. Stir in a spoon of cream and the white of a raw egg whipped together. Stir in two-thirds of this mixture with one can of salmon. Pour the remainder on top.

Cut the rounded inside stalks in five-inch length. Crisp in cold water. Shred one-half can salmon, with two tablespoons cream, seasoning and a little onion juice. Fill stalks.

CELERY STALKS STUFFED WITH SALMON.

Place a can of salmon in a saucepan, cover with boiling water and cook one-quarter of an hour. Take one pint cider vinegar, one-half teaspoon celery seed, two bay leaves, one-half teaspoon whole cloves, one teaspoon mixed spices, one-half clove of garlic, one-half medium-sized onion, one-fourth teaspoon salt, bring to boil. Cover salmon. Stand 24 hours.

SPICED SALMON.

Florence Mill Employees Quit Strikers' Ranks

Charlotte, N. C., April 11.—(AP)—Employees of one textile mill, the Florence, at Forest City, N. C., today dropped from the strikers' ranks but apparently the day brought no rift in the deadlock between 6,000 other striking workers and their employers in seven textile centers of the Carolinas.

The Florence employees returned to work after the mill had dismissed its recently employed efficiency expert and had discarded the charges instituted by him. The 20 per cent wage increase demanded by the strikers was refused, however. These operatives were not unionized.

Troops of the North Carolina National Guard continued to patrol the strike centers but no progress was reported. Leaders of the National Textile Workers Union had begun organization of relief committees to care for needy strikers.

Conferences looking toward mediation continued in most of the other strike centers but no progress was reported. Leaders of the National Textile Workers Union had begun organization of relief committees to care for needy strikers.

ATLANTA BANKERS TO JOIN SPECIAL FOR CONVENTION

Two special trains bearing prominent bankers from New York and Chicago and other eastern points will pass through Atlanta Saturday night en route to the executive council meeting of the American Bankers' Association to be held April 15-19 at Edgewater Park, Miss.

A number of prominent Atlanta bankers will join the Chicago special train of 12 cars which will arrive in Atlanta at 8:35 o'clock Saturday night following the New York train, which will be here at 6 o'clock.

More than 600 leading bankers and financial experts from all parts of the country will attend the meeting.

CROATIA STUDENTS OBJECT TO NEGRO DANCER IN SHOW

Zagreb, Croatia, April 11.—(AP)—Croatian university students of the clerical party expressed their resentment at the appearance of Josephine Baker, American negro dancer, at a theater here last night by hurling various missiles at her and shouting "Long live Croatian culture! Down with such vulgarity!"

The students eventually were ejected from the theater and several arrests were made.

CHARGES AGAINST TWO FLA. OFFICIALS MADE

Thirteen Counts for Carter; Royall Also Faces Hearing by Senate.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—Thirteen charges against Jerry W. Carter, suspended state hotel commissioner, were preferred to the senate by Governor Carlton. The items of complaint have to do with traveling expense for Carter at various hotels in the state, it became known tonight.

No information was forthcoming as to the charges against J. B. Royall, suspended by the governor as commissioner of game and fresh water fish. Both Carter and Royall were today furnished with copies of the charges filed against them with the senate. Attorneys for the two men were said to be preparing answers today.

According to ruling of the special investigating committee, Carter has 10 days to file a reply and Royall five days.

Both men asserted today that copies of the charges were sent to their attorneys shortly after their receipt from the senate committee today.

Carter is understood to have collected traveling expenses for hotel bills in a number of instances where, it is alleged, he was not charged by the managements.

The other expense, it is understood, was incurred by the suspended hotel commissioner in taking officials of out-of-state travel agencies through Florida to acquaint them with conditions.

New Leviathan Owners Abandon Prohi Policy And Will Serve Liquors

Boats of New United States Lines Will Be "Wet" Under Certain Definite Restrictions.

New York, April 11.—(AP)—The liner Leviathan, queen of the American merchant marine, was plowing the waves today, still a dry boat under the orders of its new owners, but soon to lose its aridity by authority of those same orders.

The Leviathan sailed yesterday on its first voyage under private ownership, having been taken over by an organization headed by Paul E. Chapman along with the rest of the shipping board fleet.

The shipping board boats were dry but shortly after the Leviathan sailed the report got about that the new United States lines were going to follow the example of most other American shipping concerns and sell liquor on the far side of the 12-mile line.

This report was confirmed by Joseph E. Sheedy, executive vice president of the line, who said he had decided the new liquor policy of the Leviathan and her sister ships on his own responsibility.

Some hours later he amended his statement to say that his orders to the stewards directed them not to sell from the medical stores of liquor on the present trip to Europe, but on the westward return journey to sell liquor.

While his statement covered specifically only the current round trip it was clearly indicated that under the new orders, on subsequent trips liquor would be sold both ways outside the 12-mile limit.

There will be no bars on the United States lines boats, he said, because strong drink sometimes leads to strong language and he wished to protect the passengers' ability to say and to drink in seemingly fashion. Those who show the effects of their drinking, it was said, will be served no more to drink.

The other ships to be taken over by the United States Lines and on which the same liquor rule will apply are the American, George Washington, President Harding, President Roosevelt, American Farmer, American Shipper, American Merchant, American Trader and the Republic. The last of these ships will be turned over to the new owners on June 6.

PROHIBITION AGENTS INTERESTED IN SALE.
Washington, April 11.—(AP)—Prohibition officials said tonight they had lost interest in the present trip of the Leviathan to Europe after the announcement from New York that no liquor would be sold but they immediately became interested in later dispatches from the metropolis which indicated liquor might be sold hereafter on eastward voyages.

The later New York announcement said that the public relations department of the new owners of the Leviathan said that it was fair to assume that the huge liner would be dry only on its present eastward voyage and Commissioner Doran, of the prohibition bureau, when asked of this, declared there would be no legal way the ship could sell intoxicants on out-bound trips.

Mr. Doran said that if liquor has been sold on eastward trips his department immediately would become active. There is no legal way for the Leviathan to get liquor for an eastward voyage, he added, as it can not be brought into this country even under seal nor can it be bought in this country.

K. A. COOK NAMED AS GENERAL AGENT OF RAILROAD HERE

Kenneth A. Cook, for the past eight years assistant general agent of the passenger department of the Canadian Pacific and Soo Lines at Detroit, has been appointed general agent of the passenger department of the same lines here, with offices in the Healey building.

He succeeds E. G. Chevalier, a veteran railroad man, who has resigned.

Mr. Cook has a long record of distinguished service with the Canadian Pacific and Soo Lines. Prior to his assignment in Detroit he was in the Chicago office as chief clerk, in Kansas City as traveling passenger agent, and in Cincinnati as city passenger agent. He has been here for several days and later will remove his family to the city.

Mr. Cook announced Thursday that A. B. Cahler, special representative of the Canadian Pacific at Montreal, Canada, will visit Atlanta Saturday, being in charge of the Vermont Special, which will bring the governor of the Green Mountain state, other high officials and Vermont exhibits on a tour of the south.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR EAST POINT WAGON CONCERN
Petition for a receiver for the property of the White Hickory Wagon Manufacturing Company at East Point and for judgment on $70,000 alleged to be just due on a loan under a trust deed, was filed in Fulton superior court Thursday by the First Trust & Savings Corporation. Judge Clayton B. Moore appointed the Fourth National bank as temporary receiver under $10,000 bond.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant borrowed $100,000 and executed and delivered to the petitioner as trustee 302 bonds for this amount on May 15, 1923. Ten thousand dollars in bonds are actually in default, and $90,000 are in default by virtue of the acceleration clause of the trust deed. The plaintiff alleges on information and belief that the wagon company is insolvent, and asks that the trust deed be decreed in its favor on all property described in it. The petition was filed by Anderson, Rountree & Crenshaw, and Brandon & Hynds.

MEMORIAL BODY TO MEET APRIL 24 AND ELECT BOARD
Members of the board of directors, the governing body of the association, will be elected at the annual meeting of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial Association to be held at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 24, at the Chamber of Commerce building.

The board of directors, elected for a year, is empowered to name the officers of the association for the year as well as the executive committee. The meeting is held on this date in pursuance of the constitution and by-laws of the organization, and a full attendance is desired by the officers.

U. S. TO BRING 600 BELATED LIQUOR CASES TO TRIAL
Hitler and von in various places in this country and mayhap others, there are some 600 alleged offenders against the peace and dignity of these United States who for one reason or another have never been brought before the bar of justice in the northern district of Georgia to account for their conduct.

This information was gleaned Thursday with an announcement by local government officials that such a state of affairs will be terminated forthwith if present plans do not miscarry.

Federal agents will comb the territory embraced in this court district in search of defendants, it was stated, who have been entered on the federal court docket for several years but who, for one reason or another, never have been brought to trial. Some never have been apprehended; others have been arrested but forfeited bonds for their appearance.

A period of more than 10 years is covered in the cases involved. Bench warrants have been issued for all the defendants and deputy United States marshals will conduct the search.

HARDMAN HEARS CLEMENCY PLEA FOR B. D. BROOKINS
Governor Hardman Thursday heard a plea for commutation of the death sentence of B. D. Brookins, condemned Muscogee county slayer, but declined to take any action until he has received recommendation of the state prison commission. Brookins was given a 60-day respite in January to give the prison board an opportunity to hear his case, and the board's report on the hearing has not yet been sent to the chief executive.

John Rushin, Muscogee county negro also under death sentence for murder and reprieved sometime ago by the governor, was awaiting the board's report on his case.

Reprieves of both men will expire Saturday.

LIBRARY SESSION DELEGATES NAMED BY GOVERNOR
Six delegates to represent Georgia at the annual meeting of the American Library Association, to be held at Washington, D. C., May 13 to 18, were appointed Thursday by Governor L. G. Hardman. Delegates are Mrs. J. K. Orley, Atlanta; Mr. Alonzo Richardson, Atlanta; J. H. Mills, Jenkinsburg; Dr. Joe Jacobs, Atlanta; Miss T. D. Barker, Atlanta; and Miss Ella May Thorton, state librarian.

HARVARD TO DEBATE EMORY HERE TONIGHT

Emancipated Women Will Be Subject of Argument Between Students.

Harvard university will send a formidable forensic team against the Emory debaters tonight at 8 o'clock in the university auditorium when the first time in intercollegiate competition to debate the question "Resolved, That Emancipated Women is a Curse."

Crimson men are selected from the squad which won the astern intercollegiate debating championship last year.

The Harvard introductory speaker is a native southerner, Norman Winer, '29, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and the other two speakers are New Englanders, John F. Harding, '30, of Pittsfield, Mass., and Gerald W. Harrington, '30, of Mattapoisett, Mass.

Opposing the Harvard team will be Harlee Branch, Jr., of Atlanta; Glenn Elliott, of Norcross, and Frank Settle, of Kennesaw, Va. All three are experienced debaters and members of the Tau Kappa Alpha national forensic fraternity.

The judges for the debate are all prominent Atlantans. They are Solicitor John S. Boykin, John S. Cohen and Reuben Arnold.

The Harvard debaters are also meeting Randolph Macon Women's college, at Lynchburg, Va.; University of North Carolina, at Chapel Hill, and Duke university, at Durham, N. C., on their southern trip.

Emory university's freshman team composed of Cape W. Flourney, of Ft. Valley, and Emory Williams, of Quitman, Miss., tonight will be at Dalton, Ga., debating the North Georgia Agricultural college.

The question for discussion is "Resolved, That Three to Five Jurists Should Be Substituted for the Present System of Trial by Jury."

Washington, April 11.—(AP)—President Hoover told a subcommittee of the senate agriculture committee today that he could give no offhand opinion on the National Grange's proposal for an export bounty plan in the proposed agricultural relief bill.

He reminded the senators who called at the White House that such a plan had not been considered by the republican national convention in drafting the farm plank of the platform and that it had not come under discussion during the presidential campaign.

Mr. Hoover added, however, that he would be glad to obtain the opinion of government experts as to the operation of such a plan in other countries and to make that opinion available to the committee. There were suggestions that the committee hold further hearings on this proposal so that the views of both proponents and opponents might be more fully developed.

Members of Committee.
The delegation was headed by Chairman McNary and the other members were Senators Norbeck, of South Dakota, and Capper, of Kansas, republicans, and Ransdell, of Louisiana, and Heflin, of Alabama, democrats.

Satisfactory progress in the drafting of the farm relief bill has been reported to Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the house republican leader, by the agriculture committee. The house leader declares there is every indication that the measure will be presented to the house on the third day of the extra session.

The agriculture subcommittee which has been preparing the bill plans to place it in the hands of the full committee tomorrow so that the latter can give the legislation a thorough scrutiny in the few days remaining before the extra session begins Monday.

The subcommittee consists of Chairman Hugen, Representative Purnell, of Indiana, and Williams, of Illinois, republicans, and Aswell, of Louisiana, and Kitchel, of Kentucky, democrats.

U. S. TO BRING 600 BELATED LIQUOR CASES TO TRIAL
Hitler and von in various places in this country and mayhap others, there are some 600 alleged offenders against the peace and dignity of these United States who for one reason or another have never been brought before the bar of justice in the northern district of Georgia to account for their conduct.

This information was gleaned Thursday with an announcement by local government officials that such a state of affairs will be terminated forthwith if present plans do not miscarry.

Federal agents will comb the territory embraced in this court district in search of defendants, it was stated, who have been entered on the federal court docket for several years but who, for one reason or another, never have been brought to trial. Some never have been apprehended; others have been arrested but forfeited bonds for their appearance.

A period of more than 10 years is covered in the cases involved. Bench warrants have been issued for all the defendants and deputy United States marshals will conduct the search.

HARDMAN HEARS CLEMENCY PLEA FOR B. D. BROOKINS
Governor Hardman Thursday heard a plea for commutation of the death sentence of B. D. Brookins, condemned Muscogee county slayer, but declined to take any action until he has received recommendation of the state prison commission. Brookins was given a 60-day respite in January to give the prison board an opportunity to hear his case, and the board's report on the hearing has not yet been sent to the chief executive.

John Rushin, Muscogee county negro also under death sentence for murder and reprieved sometime ago by the governor, was awaiting the board's report on his case.

Reprieves of both men will expire Saturday.

Perfect Day Forecast Here; No More Rain

Clear, slightly cooler weather may be expected in Atlanta today, which should be perfect in every respect, according to the forecast of C. F. von Hermann, local meteorologist, who states that with the April shower of Thursday morning which produced a quarter of an inch of rain, precipitation should be over for the time being.

Atlanta was not the only southern city that got all wet Wednesday as rain was reported from several other sections. Moderate temperatures continue to prevail in most parts of the country with some northwestern cities still having freezing weather.

Temperature here Wednesday ranged from a minimum of 66 up to 75 while both today's extremes are expected to be slightly below these figures.

WIFE OF ATLANTA PHYSICIAN FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Petition for total divorce and $100 a month alimony or a $5,000 cash settlement was filed Thursday in Fulton superior court by Mrs. Olive C. Kelly against Dr. L. H. Kelly, physician with offices in the Hurt building.

Mrs. Kelly charges the defendant with indifference, and with being cruel and neglectful. The plaintiff and defendant were married April 29, 1912, in Franklin county, and separated April 10, 1929, the petition shows. The judge was filed by Attorney E. R. Hill.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR EAST POINT WAGON CONCERN

Petition for a receiver for the property of the White Hickory Wagon Manufacturing Company at East Point and for judgment on $70,000 alleged to be just due on a loan under a trust deed, was filed in Fulton superior court Thursday by the First Trust & Savings Corporation. Judge Clayton B. Moore appointed the Fourth National bank as temporary receiver under $10,000 bond.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant borrowed $100,000 and executed and delivered to the petitioner as trustee 302 bonds for this amount on May 15, 1923. Ten thousand dollars in bonds are actually in default, and $90,000 are in default by virtue of the acceleration clause of the trust deed. The plaintiff alleges on information and belief that the wagon company is insolvent, and asks that the trust deed be decreed in its favor on all property described in it. The petition was filed by Anderson, Rountree & Crenshaw, and Brandon & Hynds.

MEMORIAL BODY TO MEET APRIL 24 AND ELECT BOARD
Members of the board of directors, the governing body of the association, will be elected at the annual meeting of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial Association to be held at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 24, at the Chamber of Commerce building.

The board of directors, elected for a year, is empowered to name the officers of the association for the year as well as the executive committee. The meeting is held on this date in pursuance of the constitution and by-laws of the organization, and a full attendance is desired by the officers.

TROUP COUNTY RESIDENT GIVEN YEAR IN PRISON

Jack Gates, of Troup county, pleaded guilty in United States court here Thursday to a charge of violating the prohibition laws and was sentenced to a year and a day in the penitentiary. It was said to be his second offense.

Clifton Bates, jointly indicted with Tryon Bates on a charge of violating the motor vehicle theft act, pleaded guilty and was given a sentence of 13 months. Tryon Bates was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $200 or serve three months in jail.

With these and several other smaller cases the criminal court calendar which had been prepared for the March term of court was completed. Civil business will be considered for a few days and court convenes in Gainesville April 22.

WOMAN SENTENCED Receiver of Stolen Goods Given 2 to 5 Years.

The second trial of Annie Mae Kells on a charge of receiving stolen goods Thursday resulted in her conviction and in imposition of a sentence of from two to five years. The first hearing resulted in a mistrial. The woman was charged with receiving stolen goods from Moultrie Randolph, alias Frank Johnson, who recently was convicted of burglary and sentenced to serve 20 years. The property was stolen from Fannie Marden, according to the indictment. Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy passed sentence on the Kells woman.

SIDEWALK SWEEPING IS URGED NEXT WEEK

"Clean-Up Week" Begins Next Monday—Atlantans Asked To Co-operate.

Sweeping of sidewalks is suggested as an important feature of "Clean Up, Paint Up" week, beginning Monday, April 15, and lasting through April 21. "It has been brought to the attention of the woman's division of the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring activities this year, that Atlanta sidewalks, especially in the downtown section, are not swept regularly enough to insure that spotlessness we so much desire to present to our grand opera visitors," said Mrs. L. Irving Turner, president.

"We learn from the sanitary department that property owners and occupants of business houses and homes are required to sweep the sidewalks in front of their own homes or places of business every day, and that notice has already been served by that department to see that this matter be attended to during next week. If the trash on the sidewalks is swept into the gutters, street sweepers will remove it on their rounds."

his friends and acquaintances by the hundreds. Mr. Hightower is 76 years of age, and during the War Between the States, worked in an ammunition factory. He is a member of the Methodist church, and the Odd Fellows. Talking to the Sargon man recently, he said:

"For the first time in two years I am completely free of pain because Sargon has had such marvelous action on my liver and gall bladder. It is a revelation to me to have had these organs regulated in so short a time. I suffered with indigestion, constipation, high blood pressure, dizziness, gas, bladder pains, oppression of gas on my heart, shortness of breath, loss of appetite and general debility."

"Sargon Soft Mastic Pills started my liver to working right, and relieved my dizziness within 12 hours. They are mild and yet are most effective in their action. Because the Sargon treatment has regulated my digestive organs I no longer suffer with gas and bloating sensations after meals. I do not spit up hot water and bits of food after eating as I formerly did. The constant dizziness that distracted me has disappeared, and my head is clear again. My appetite is so good I am afraid to satisfy my craving for food. I have taken two bottles of the Sargon tonic and have already gained five pounds in weight. In fact, Sargon has corrected my condition, for which I am very thankful. I am glad to come to learn first-hand about this revolutionary new medicine. A personal interest is taken in every case and full information is freely given. Sargon may also be obtained at all Jacobs Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—adv.

Never before has a medicine aroused such public interest as Sargon. EXHIBITION HOME INSPECTION ENDS ON SUNDAY NIGHT

With only three days remaining before the period of public inspection comes to a close, officials of the Atlanta Realty & Construction Company Thursday issued another invitation to all persons interested in better homes to visit its inspection home at 820 Oakdale road.

The home has been open for a week, and hundreds of interested prospective home-builders have called and seen the high standard materials and workmanship perfectly blended in the home. The dwelling is completely furnished and is fitted with numerous electrical, heating and musical appliances, radiators, and a complete plumbing system, and is a model of modern living.

The home will be open today, Saturday and Sunday from 2:30 to 10 p. m., and officials will be on hand to answer all questions, according to Atlanta Realty and Construction Company leaders.

$25,000 CASE WON AGAINST DEFUNCT CHATSWORTH BANK

The supreme court Thursday upheld a verdict for $25,000 returned in favor of the Hagedorn Construction Company against the Bank of Chatsworth, which was one of the chain of banks operated by the Bankers Trust Co. and which closed when the parent bank failed several years ago. The verdict covered road construction work done by the company in Murray county.

A. J. Mobley, state superintendent of banks, who took over the assets of the bank when it failed, contended that the money was not a liability of the bank as it was not listed on the bank's books. The case was argued in the supreme court, which ruled, however, that the bank was liable for the money and returned its verdict in favor of the construction company.

AMBULANCE CRASH RESULTS IN SUITS TOTALING $60,000

Damage suits totaling $60,000 were filed Thursday against A. C. Hemperley & Sons for injuries alleged to have been received by two women in an ambulance on Whitehall street at Hood, March 22, 1935.

Mrs. LaFayette Patton, who was being carried from Campbell county to the Georgia Baptist hospital for X-rays of her lungs while suffering from pneumonia, asks $25,000, and Mrs. H. B. Tschubert, who was accompanying Mrs. Patton in the ambulance, asks a similar amount. H. B. Patton asks $10,000 for loss of his wife's services. The plaintiffs allege that the ambulance struck a street car and caused the two women to be injured.

WOMAN RECEIVES 2-YEAR SENTENCE IN KIDNAPING CASE

Two years at the state prison farm were given Mrs. H. L. Moore Thursday by Judge John D. Humphries at Fulton superior court after a jury convicted Mrs. Moore of kidnaping Hattie Mae Price by enticing the girl away from the home of her father, James L. Price, and of conducting a disorderly house. The jury recommended punishment as for a misdemeanor in the kidnaping case, and the other charge was contained in a misdemeanor indictment. The woman was given 12 months on each charge.

Maker of Well-Known Medicinal Compound Enjoys Big Business

The S. S. S. Company, of Atlanta, maker of the "vegetable" medicinal compound sold nationally, is now finishing its present season's manufacturing, and officials reported Thursday that the plant has been compelled to operate both its manufacturing and bottling departments day and night to supply demand.

SUIT TO DISBAR HARRY L. M'GRIFF FILED BY BOYKIN

Disbarment proceedings were filed Thursday by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin against Harry L. McGriff, Atlanta attorney, after a jury in superior court found that McGriff was insane and the court had committed the defendant to the state sanitarium at Milledgeville.

McGriff had been indicted on charges of larceny after receipt of $100 from Tom Backus and $32 from Patricia Randolph, and entered a special plea of insanity in the case. McGriff is required to show cause April 12 before Judge John D. Humphries as to why his name should not be stricken from the bar list.

CIVIL WAR VETS TO GET OVERDUE PENSIONS TODAY

'Perfect' Counterfeit $20 Bill Detected by Slightest of Flaws

What is said to be one of the oldest and most perfect counterfeit bills seen here, a national bank note of $20 denomination, dated 1865, was received by local secret service headquarters Thursday afternoon from the federal reserve bank, where it had been sent from Claxton, Ga.

C. H. Broadnax, secret service agent in charge, who is sending the bill to Washington for investigation, stated that he never had seen a more perfect reproduction. Although badly worn in many places, the fine engraving work can still be seen easily and is said to be far superior to many counterfeit bills of more recent manufacture.

NEGROES WILL STAGE CLEANUP MARCH TODAY

Parade Will Start at Morris Brown, Thence to Peachtree and Back by Auburn Ave.

The negro "Clean Up, Paint Up" parade will start today at 3 o'clock at Morris Brown university, moving down Houston to Peachtree street, thence back Auburn avenue, it was stated Thursday.

The procession will have two bands, a mounted police squadron, school children and a large number of representatives from the 132 colored clubs in Atlanta.

Those taking part will be dressed in caps and aprons or other suitable cleanup costumes, and will either carry banners reading: "Get Up, Paint Up, Scrub Up, Clean Up, Paint Up," etc., or will carry scrubbing brushes, brooms, dustpans, mops, paint brushes or suitable cleanup implements. Ida Henderson, president of federated clubs for negroes in Atlanta, instituted the parade, and has appointed chairmen and chairwomen in each ward and each neighborhood to take active part in seeing that the colored people do a good job during cleanup week. Reports will be sent in at the end of the campaign as to progress made.

ORDINANCE BODY POSTPONES ACTION ON PLUMBING BILL

Members of the ordinance committee of city council Thursday deferred action on a proposed new plumbing ordinance in order to allow proponents and opponents of the measure time to effect a compromise.

The proposed paper would require installation of waste pipes and vents by licensed plumbers only. This was opposed by several owners of large buildings for the reason that engineers of the respective establishments make all installations at the present time and said to be amply qualified to continue to do so.

Other routine matters also were considered.

Special Highway Commission Finishes Organization Today

Members of the special commission named recently by Governor L. G. Hardman to study highway conditions in Georgia will meet at 11 o'clock today in the senate chamber of the state capitol to perfect its organization. Sam Tate, of Tate, chairman of the commission, will preside.

On the commission are some of the leading business men in the state as well as prominent members of the legislature who have been identified prominently with the passage of highway legislation. The members will perfect organization, arrange for meetings of sub-committees and make preparations for submitting a list of recommendations to the legislature at its session to be held in the summer.

As an additional honor Governor Hardman Thursday named all the members of the special commission on a delegation to attend the annual meeting of the United States Good Roads Association and the Bankhead Highway Association to be held in Memphis April 29 and May 3.

Silver Service Will Be Presented To Hardmans on Wedding Anniversary

Beautiful silver service to be presented Saturday night to Governor and Mrs. L. G. Hardman by members of the governor's official staff at a dinner in their honor at the Biltmore on the occasion of the 22nd wedding anniversary of the state's chief executive and his wife. Each article bears the seal of the state of Georgia and the large platter contains the names of officers of the staff.

Governor and Mrs. L. G. Hardman will be presented with a beautiful silver service by the members of the governor's official staff at a dinner to be tendered them at 7 o'clock Saturday night at the Biltmore hotel. The dinner will be given by the officers of the staff and will celebrate the 22nd wedding anniversary of the governor and

Mrs. Hardman. Colonel J. C. Woodward will preside at the dinner. In addition to Governor and Mrs. Hardman a number of other well-known Georgians will be guests of the staff. Included among these will be the former governors and men who have been close to Governor Hardman, both in and out of state office. The program will consist of several short congratulatory speeches by staff members and guests, the presentation of the gifts and a response by the governor. In addition to the silver service the military men will give their commander a silk flag of the state of Georgia and a composite picture of the staff personnel. The gifts will be on display for a short time about noon today at Latham & Atkinson, jewelers.

LIGHTING OF VIADUCTS IS CALLED PREMATURE

City Electrician Says He Has Not Checked Systems Although in Concrete.

Opposition to turning on lights on the Pryor street and Central avenue

viaducts until the installations are checked and approved by the electrical department of the city government, was voiced Thursday by Pat Hendricks, city electrician.

Mr. Hendricks declared the system was cut in without authority of the electrical department and that his office had not checked the installations. Members of the electric lights committee of city council, before which Mr. Hendricks aired his views, voted to instruct Mr. Hendricks to check the installations in accordance with the contract specifications. It was pointed out that even if the specifications had not been followed, concrete has been poured and set and the bridges now are ready for opening.

The committee, headed by Alderman Robert E. Gann, of the sixth ward, also voted to establish a subcommittee of three members to investigate the safety of installing Neon sign tubes in display windows without enclosing the tubes in glass protectors. Aldermen G. Everett Milligan and Ben T. Huie and Councilman Robert M. Cobb, Jr., will seek a ruling from the Southern Railway Underwriters' Association on the matter. In the meantime, the committee voted to permit the Munn Sign Company to continue service in several shops where Claude Neon tubes have been installed.

Establishment of a white way on Highland avenue from St. Charles avenue to Drewry place was voted by the board after it had been presented by Alderman Oscar H. Williamson and Councilman Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth.

Plans for establishment of a white way at Virginia and Highland avenues will await development of preliminary steps for widening Virginia avenue, it was said. They will be pushed just as soon as the new lines have been established.

King Tut, New House Police Force Member

Washington, April 11.—(United News.)—The White House police force has a new member in "King Tut," the Belgian police dog, who has been the monarch of the White House kennels since he arrived from the president's former 8 street home. "King Tut," who has been the pet of President and Mrs. Hoover for more than four years, has voluntarily taken an all-night watch on the south grounds of the executive mansion. From dark until daylight the faithful animal ambles around the grounds, stopping at intervals at the sentinel post where the regular police are stationed day and night.

Richard Jervis, chief of the White House police and secret service, regards "King Tut" not as a regular policeman but as a sergeant. "King Tut" does his sleeping at odd times during the day.

DEATH OF MOTHER BRINGS ROMANCE TO WOMAN AT 71

Philadelphia, April 11.—(AP)—Romance was a long way on the road for Isabella C. Oliver and Frank H. Thomas, but their marriage was just around the corner today.

Mr. Thomas, who is 72, led his 71-year-old bride-to-be before the marriage license clerk in city hall today. After they had obtained the license a bit of tragedy was unfolded. Yesterday Miss Oliver buried her mother, Mrs. Ermeline Oliver, who was 90.

"Mother forbade my marrying until after she died," said Miss Oliver. "She always maintained I would have plenty of time after that. But mother lived to a ripe old age. But mother died."

The date of the wedding was not disclosed.

UNLICENSED LOAN FIRM HEAD LOSES INDICTMENT FIGHT

Indictment of James L. Morgan in Fulton county on a charge of operating a loan agency without a state license, with making loans of $300 or less at interest in excess of 8 per cent and with charging more than 3 1/2 per cent interest a month was upheld by the supreme court in a decision handed down Thursday.

When the indictment was returned by the Fulton county grand jury Morgan took out a habeas corpus writ against Sheriff J. L. Lowry. Judge E. E. Pomeroy dismissed the writ and the case was appealed to the supreme court. The supreme court decided in favor of Sheriff Lowry. The sheriff was represented by Howell Heyman and Bolding, Carlton W. Binnis and John A. Boykin, while Morgan was represented by R. R. Jackson and C. C. Moore.

ON WITNESS STAND INMAN ADMITS HE DRINKS PINT DAILY

Reno, Nev., April 11.—(AP)—Walker P. Inman, wealthy New Yorker, who is suing his wife for divorce on the ground that she drank too much and "ran wild" with other men, testified in divorce court here today that he drinks "about half a quart of liquor a day."

Under cross-examination Inman said he didn't believe his daily consumption of liquor exceeded that amount and he declared that it had not impaired his health.

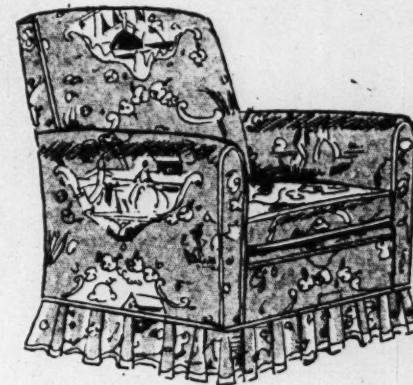

Inman said he had not objected to taking Mrs. Inman to places of amusement, but that she had refused to leave at a "decent hour," by which he said he meant 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning.

Testimony was completed with the calling of the two Reno physicians, who said that Mrs. Inman's nose had been broken some years ago and that it had never properly healed. Mrs. Inman contends that her nose was broken when her husband struck her in 1922. A New York physician who attended her at the time testified in a deposition read yesterday that Mrs. Inman suffered no serious injury. The case is expected to go to the jury late tomorrow after arguments are heard.

You wouldn't
reckless driving!

NOT in this day and time, certainly! Not in this speed crazed era when the reckless driver is the modern menace and thousands of deaths and injuries are his annual toll.

Every day the number of vehicles in the downtown streets and on the highways grows greater. And every day, likewise, the need for stamping out recklessness becomes more urgent, lest recklessness exact a greater needless loss.

Then, obey traffic laws! Drive carefully, thoughtfully, with consideration for others! And when you encounter recklessness, endangering the lives of others, stamp it out as you would a serpent!

You see an accident, read about it in the newspaper, or hear the evidence as you sit in the jury box. You absolve the innocent, condemn the one who was reckless.

We ask the same consideration, the same impartiality, and no more, if a street car should be involved in the accident.

We ask it because unfortunately there are some who have one standard of justice for ordinary cases and another for cases in which the street car is involved. Because "the Power Company can afford to pay," they think the Power Company should pay, whether the other party caused the accident by his recklessness or not.

Unintentionally, thoughtlessly, they are rewarding recklessness!

Tomorrow, that reckless driver, encouraged in his recklessness, may take another chance at beating the street car to the crossing—and kill your child!

CHICAGO SCHOOLS NOT TO REOPEN IN AUTUMN

Chicago, April 11.—H. Wallace Caldwell, president, has advised the board of education that without legislative relief, Chicago public schools will be unable to reopen next September.

lative relief, Chicago public schools will be unable to reopen next September. The board, meeting yesterday, authorized the issuance of a pamphlet to inform parents of the situation, described as desperate.

Announcement was made at the meeting that all Chicago public school playgrounds must be closed May 15 because of lack of funds for operation after that day. Within a few months, board members said, the free textbook fund of the board also will have been depleted so that free issuance of texts will be discontinued.

Revenues for the playgrounds and textbooks funds are available only from taxes, President Caldwell pointed out, and revaluation of Cook county real estate now under way is delaying receipt of money for these purposes. Sale of tax warrants, possible in other board funds, is illegal for these separate school funds.

Measures for presentation to the legislature, it was pointed out, are being drafted in an effort to lift Chicago public schools from their financial dilemma.

LLOYD GEORGE URGES CUT IN ARMAMENT

knows limit to what science can accomplish. I want to see science dedicated to the cause of peaceful progress, because I am quite sure that if there is another war Europe will become a black ruin. It is a generation before Europe is likely to recover from the last war. After another war it would not recover within a century, and what it would be like meanwhile no man can conjecture.

Cannot "Humanize" War.

Those who talk of the possibility of "humanizing" war deceive themselves. You cannot humanize war. It is true that men do not now mutilate the wounded on the field of battle. But war gives men horrible wounds. It makes men die horrible deaths. And the makers of war devise all the horrors they can invent. Those deadly instruments of pain, the flame throwers, are being drafted in because of their "frightfulness" but because they were militarily ineffective.

There were 10,000,000 dead in Europe after the last war, and there are at present 10,000,000 others who have been mutilated for life, many of them so completely disfigured that they are a horror to look upon, even to those who love them best. You do not humanize war; you dehumanize it.

"After all, it ought not to be forgotten that it was the British government alone which thought out the problem of the League of Nations. We appointed two committees to frame plans before the war came to an end. One was under the chairmanship of Lord Phillimore, a good liberal, and the other under General Smuts.

Wilson Had No Plan.

It was the Smuts plan which was accepted. When President Wilson came to England I saw him at Buckingham palace, where he was the guest of the king, and I asked him for his plan. He said he did not have one. He gave me two alternative schemes and President Wilson gave his support to that prepared by the Smuts committee.

I think it is only fair that British statesmanship should get the credit for that great piece of work. On the basis of that plan I proposed, at Paris, a series of resolutions establishing the covenant of the league and setting up an international labor bureau to regulate labor conditions throughout the world.

Let me say in passing that I felt very sorry for President Wilson in that difficult time. What shattered his nerves and broke him down completely was the scurrilous abuse to which he was constantly subjected in the French press.

I am accustomed to abuse. I have been abused throughout my public life, from the very first moment I entered it. And I can say truthfully that I have never lost even a night's sleep through an abusive attack by anybody in the world.

New Experience to Wilson.

But President Wilson had never experienced anything like it. It was to him a new and stunning experience and it broke him. He ought never to have come to Europe. He should have sent some tough fellow inured to that kind of treatment, and able to stand up to it.

It is vital to remember that disarmament was an essential part of the policy that went with the league project. German disarmament was to be followed by disarmament among all the allies. There is no doubt at all that the allies have completely broken faith.

As soon as we came back from Paris we did our part. We abolished conscription, and then, at the Washington naval conference, we carried through the one real practical measure of disarmament accomplished since the war. The two men chiefly responsible for that conspicuous success were Charles E. Hughes, on the American side, and on our side Lord Balfour, who mentally and morally has all the equipment of a true statesman.

Since then, nothing has been done. The allies as a whole have done nothing to carry out that solemn undertaking to Germany which was embodied in our protocol, to disarm. I think you will find that so far as the allies are concerned the number of trained men is considerably greater than before the war, and that the equipment is more formidable than that of Germany in 1914. And France actually has lent money to minor European states on the condition that it is used for armament.

Considering the hopeless view proposed to ward off war for another fifty years by means of a Franco-British alliance, all I need say is that Britain will never consent to be a vassal of France. The real power of Great Britain has lain in the fact that she has always taken a more or less detached view of continental politics.

Armament Cut Urged. Our duty as a nation is clear. The first essential step is to have a down-right major cut in armaments. Britain must set an example. In taking what would appear to be a risk we should in reality be taking none. These armaments are a huge burden. From the point of view of the real strength of the nation it would be far better that a large proportion of the money spent on armaments be applied instead to the development of our national resources. Economic strength had more to do with winning the war than superiority in armaments. So that even from the point of view of war possibilities you strengthen the nation in that sense by developing its economic power.

Then I would certainly adopt what is called the optional clause, in the statutes of the international court of justice. For it is important to get into the habit of settling disputes by the court method, and equally important to get the statesmen of the world into the mental habit of thinking in terms of peace instead of in pre-war terms.

Must Leave Rhineland.

Next we must leave the Rhineland. The continued occupation of German territory by foreign troops is a perpetual menace to peace. And it is quite unnecessary for the enforcement of the treaty of Versailles, for the moment Germany was disarmed she was at the mercy of the other signatories of the treaty.

But above all we must set a clear, decisive example to the rest of the world in the field of disarmament, and insist with the whole weight of our influence as a nation that the solemn and sacred undertaking given Germany, that when she disarmed all would disarm, shall be carried out in the spirit and to the letter.

Until that is done—and I say it with deep earnestness—the covenant of the League of Nations remains a dead letter.

GOVERNOR AND TATE TO CONFER TODAY

of the state highway department can be held together and so that the contractors can hold their organizations together until the time arrives for the letting of contracts for additional projects.

Leading Citizens.

The delegation from Laurens county was headed by some of the leading citizens of that county, including Judge Earl Camp, C. M. Moloney, Representative Parker New and L. W. Stubbs. It was contended that the highway board has not put Laurens county on the same basis in road building as other adjacent counties, and the members of the delegation insisted that some definite action be taken toward paying that highway from Dublin to Scott. It also was contended that the state highway board had not met federal appropriations made for completing the federal highway through the county. Judge Bennett, of the highway board, stated that the board had allotted $325,000 to bridge building on the highway in question.

Other delegations that presented claims for road building work came from Muscogee, Whitfield and Douglas counties. A delegation from Bulloch county will appear at the session of the board to be held today. The Muscogee delegation seeks completion of the Columbus-Macon highway in that county. The Whitfield delegation asked for completion of the Dalton-Chattahoochee highway, while Coffee county wants the road from Douglas to Nicholls finished.

PRETTY HEIRESS ON WAY TO HOME WITH DETECTIVE

Jacksonville, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—Miss Rosemond Morse, pretty and blonde, heiress to millions, passed through Jacksonville tonight in the custody of a detective, but what she saw of the city was very little.

Nor did she tell reporters who swarmed over the train anything about why she forsook her life of luxury in Brookline, Mass., to seek adventure, or romance, or whatever it is that young girls leave home for. She was located yesterday in Miami, where she had been for some time engaged as a waitress in a restaurant.

In fact, Miss Morse was pretty well bored with being sought out by reporters and photographers. So much so, indeed, that both she and her detective escort denied their identity.

Mining Congress Maps Plans To Exploit Natural Resources Of South by Advertisements

Various Agencies Will Be Asked To Co-ordinate in Determined Effort To Aid Section.

Determined efforts to exploit every natural resource of the south were launched Thursday at the fourth annual industrial conference of the American Mining Congress. Co-ordination of the work of various agencies seeking for the south its place in the industrial world and plans for a complete advertising system by which the products of the south will be known and sought all over the world were mapped out.

The conference, which will be concluded today, is being held at the Atlanta-Biltmore hotel.

All States Represented.

Every state in the south is represented in the conference, though a number of delegates from Arkansas and those who had to cross through that state on their way to Atlanta failed to arrive in time for the opening Thursday. They were delayed because of the tornado in Arkansas. A full membership is expected at the conference sessions today.

Holding the center of interest in Thursday's business sessions was a round table discussion of the south's general industrial situation and a report from the representatives of each state on the individual developments in their own sections. All agreed with a previously read message from Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers Record that the south today is farther advanced in the industrial field than it ever has been before and that great progress is to be made in the immediate future.

Activities Summarized.

Representatives backed their reports with brief messages summarizing the activities in nearly every line of industrial activities. The manufacture of steel and cotton products is far greater in the south at present than ever before and the outlook for a tremendous increase in business is excellent. South Carolina, Georgia, North Carolina and Alabama representatives reported, while the other states reported a general increase in development of resources and manufacture of products.

Though most of the first day's business meetings went to technical discussions there was much of interest to the south in general, chiefly the address of Dr. Thorndike Saville, of the University of North Carolina, on "The Relation of Topographic Mapping and Water Resource Investigations to the South's Industrial Development."

"Water power is the backbone of industry," Dr. Saville said. "Here in the south, in every state we have vast power undeveloped. Millions and millions of dollars' worth of our natural resources are going to waste because our water power is undeveloped."

Topographical Mapping.

The speaker pointed out that topographical mapping, too, was an essential task in development of the resources.

"We can never tell what the earth holds until we study it," he said. "Beneath our feet there may be fortune for all of us and we need to know every day not knowing what the silent earth holds."

Delegates to the conference assembled in their first session Thursday morning to hear the address of welcome by Governor L. G. Hardman and the response from J. F. Gallbreath, secretary of the American Mining Congress, as well as messages from leaders in industry all over the world.

Mayor L. N. Ragsdale also was present to greet the delegates. Both the governor and the mayor pointed out that the south in general already had shown itself appreciative of the efforts of the mining congress through ready response to its efforts in launching cement, paint, pigment, brick and tile and many other manufacturing plants in this section at the invitation of the congress.

The governor and the mayor welcomed the delegates to Atlanta and extended to them the best wishes of the state and city in the work of the conference.

Responding, Secretary Gallbreath asserted that through the opening of so many new industries in the south he was able to forecast that the next ten years would be the most important tant thus far in the section's industrial history.

Development Everywhere.

"On every hand," Mr. Gallbreath said, "we see concrete evidence of this development. Many new companies are being formed. Many northern concerns are moving to the south and many of the great concerns which cannot bring their main plants here because of the huge sums they already have invested are building extensive branches and there will come a time when these branches will be as great if not greater than the main plant."

Mr. Edmonds in his message to the congress asserted that "no other region on the face of the earth is comparable to the south in resources susceptible to development."

"Its people can bring to the south prosperity for all," Mr. Edmonds' message said. "There is more here to provide wealth and happiness than anywhere else in our great country."

Dinner Is Given.

Delegates to the conference were entertained at dinner Thursday night at the Biltmore. The chief speaker, United States Senator Hubert H. Stephens, of Mississippi, was unable to attend, but sent a telegraphic message to the conference in which he said that he realized the work of the conference was of vital interest to the industrial south and hoped that the general industrial situation and a report from the representatives of each state on the individual developments in their own sections. All agreed with a previously read message from Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers Record that the south today is farther advanced in the industrial field than it ever has been before and that great progress is to be made in the immediate future.

In the absence of Senator Stephens the chief address was made by James H. Skewes, editor of the Meridian Star. Mr. Skewes asserted that on all sides the south showed itself to be on the threshold of a great era of prosperity and that all that was needed for its certainty was the combined assistance of the south's business and commercial leaders.

Co-operation Is Needed.

"We cannot expect to advance unless we all pull together," Mr. Skewes declared. "We must have a unified front, with everyone seeking to attain the common goal."

Governor Hardman and Secretary of State George H. Carswell were present and each made a short talk. The dinner was over by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech.

Rules, nominating and resolutions committees were appointed at Thursday's session while election of officers will conclude the order of business for today. The program for the conference is in charge of A. V. Henry, of the Georgia Institute of Technology, and Dr. Henry Mace Payne, secretary of the southern division and consulting engineer of the American Mining Congress.

Two sessions will be held today, morning and afternoon. At the morning session the featured address will be by B. G. Klugh of the Federal Phosphorus Company on "Research as an Essential Factor in Industrial Progress" and by W. L. Churchill, noted economist, on "Profits—The Basis of All Industrial Progress."

At the afternoon session the featured speaker will be Governor Eugene R. Black of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank. Governor Black will talk on "The Opportunities for Young Men in the South." George H. Bailey, counsel for the mining congress, will discuss the organization and its interest in work in the south.

The election of officers and other business will be taken up just preceding adjournment late this afternoon.

BLIND TENNESSEE LEGISLATOR SITS IN SPEAKER'S SEAT

Nashville, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—The house of representatives transacted its business as usual today between 11:45 o'clock and noon. Representative D. M. Coleman, of Chattanooga, was in the chair, presiding while the speaker rested.

"The gentleman from Tennessee" addressed the chair of his usual base voice and was recognized as usual. "The gentleman from Shelby" made a motion in his usual soft voice and was heard as usual. All the other gentlemen spoke and were recognized as usual—except that Mr. Coleman is blind.

He has been in the assembly for years, and knows most of the 99 representatives by voice alone.

Faust's Infamous Bargain, Death Of Marguerite, To Be Sung Here

FAUST
CHARLES GOUNOD.

To be presented at 8 o'clock Friday night, April 26, with Florence Easton as Marguerite, Lawrence Tibbett as Valentin, Edward Johnson as Faust, Leon Rothier as Mephistopheles, George Cehanovsky as Wagner, Minnie Egner as Siebel and Henrietta Wakefield as Martha. The story, briefly summarized, follows:

Faust, an aged philosopher, becoming disgusted with the limitation of human knowledge and envious of the happiness of youth, calls upon the powers of darkness. Mephistopheles appears, and with supernatural power entices Faust with a vision of Marguerite and induces him to sign a compact whereby Faust regains his youth, with all its passions and enthusiasm. Marguerite, a lovely innocent maiden, has been left by her soldier brother, Valentin, to the care of Dame Marthe, a worthy but not overly vigilant chaperon. Her simple nature is easily impressed by Faust's impassioned love-making, but he soon deserts her.

Valentin returning from the wars attempts vengeance on his sister's seducer, but is slain. Marguerite, horrified at the calamity of which she is the cause, gives way to despair. Her reason becomes affected and she kills her child. For this crime she is thrown in prison. Faust, aided by Mephistopheles, enters the prison and urges her to flee with them, but Marguerite in a state of religious exaltation, spurns their aid and with a prayer for forgiveness on her lips the unhappy girl dies.

Mephistopheles rejoices at the catastrophe he has wrought, but a chorus of angelic voices is heard, proclaiming that there is forgiveness for a repentant sinner, and, surrounded by angels, Marguerite is borne upwards to the heavens while the evil one toiled in his attempt to capture two souls, seizes upon Faust and drags him away to fulfill his pact.

LEON ROTHIER

CATTS TO SURRENDER TO FEDERAL MARSHAL

Pensacola, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—Sidney J. Catts, Sr., wartime governor of Florida, will surrender himself to the federal marshal here tomorrow on a warrant charging that he aided and abetted a ring of counterfeiters.

Catts made the announcement to night from his home at Defuniak Springs. He notified Fred W. Cubberly, United States district attorney, over the telephone that he would appear early tomorrow and post the $17,500 bond set in his case.

Originally, Catts had said he would surrender at Marianna before United States Commissioner Milton and late yesterday he did that, posting the bond. However, Commissioner Milton held no warrant for the aged former governor's arrest and the bond was said to be void.

Government agents claim they have uncovered evidence that Catts, under the alias of "Gato," a Spanish word for "cat," made a loan of $5,000 to Diaz to finance the counterfeit operation.

BROADNAX RETURNS FROM FLORIDA WORK.

George H. Broadnax, local secret service agent in charge, returned to Atlanta Thursday after extensive operations in Florida resulting in federal indictments being returned against former Governor Sidney J. Catts, Sr., Julian Diaz, Tampa attorney, and a number of others, charging operation of a "million-dollar counterfeit ring."

Mr. Broadnax characterized the "ring" as being potentially the biggest thing of the kind ever uncovered in the south, and only the fact that it was broken up at the start prevented the manufacture of millions of counterfeiters of currency.

He, together with another secret service agent, had been working on the case for some weeks before what he considers "positive evidence" had been found and the indictments secured.

CITY WILL PROBE CHARGE AGAINST GRADY HOSPITAL

Members of the hospitals and charities committee of the city council will investigate an alleged erroneous diagnosis of an illness of five-year-old Jack Priest by Grady hospital officials at a special meeting to be held Saturday night, it was announced Thursday by Alderman G. Everett Millican, chairman.

Complaint was filed by the boy's father, S. D. Priest, alleging that an operation was performed after the diagnosis and it was found that the surgery would not relieve the malady.

Reports have been asked from Grady officials on the case and these will be before the committee at its session.

EMORY'S STUDENTS WILL ELECT TODAY

Rallies of the democratic and all-Emory parties were held on the Emory university campus Thursday night in preparation for the election of candidates to more than 100 student offices in the general elections today. Two prominent outsiders were speakers, B. J. Reynolds and John Wesley Weekes.

R. J. Reynolds, prominent Atlanta lawyer, spoke before the all-Emory rally in the main auditorium on the campus. Besides these men numerous students prominent in campus activities made short speeches.

At each rally music was furnished by a band. Sandy Clower presided at the democratic rally and Julian Dell Dell was chairman at the newly organized all-Emory party meeting.

Robert Crawford and Graves Smith are nominees for president and vice president of the student body from the all-Emory party. The older democrats are backing J. L. Harris, Jr., and Luke G. Beauchamp.

EX-PRESIDENTS URGED AS SENATORS-AT-LARGE

Fess Proposes To Introduce Bill To Carry Suggestion Into Effect.

Washington, April 11.—(AP)—A proposal to permit ex-presidents to serve as ex-officio members of the senate after they leave office was introduced today by Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, one of the leaders of the administration forces.

Fess announced that at the next regular session in December he would introduce a constitutional amendment to carry the proposal into effect. Under the amendment, ex-presidents would serve as senators-at-large for life terms and would receive $25,000 yearly.

"The large experience our presidents gain while in office would be of enormous value to the country if they went to the senate thereafter," he said. "Ordinarily, I am opposed to all tinkering with the constitution, but the benefits to be derived from this proposal are so great that I see no valid objection to it."

He added that his proposed amendment probably would evoke bitter opposition in congress, particularly as to the salary involved, because senators are paid only $10,000 a year, but he said he was prepared to wage a vigorous fight for the measure. He asserted, however, that he did not intend to "clutter up" the special session with such a proposal.

"Frequently," he said, "presidents leave office with no other desirable occupation in sight, but occasionally, in the case of former President Taft, they do drop into something which they like and are fitted for. Taft liked the supreme court and always wanted to be a member of it, but his case was an exception."

The salary he proposes, Fess said, would relieve former presidents of financial worries and would assure them of an adequate income along with congenial work.

Wightman Duke Wins Scholarship To Columbia U.

Wightman Richard Duke, son of Mr. W. R. Duke, of 188 Campbell street, Thursday was announced as the winner of the Columbia scholarship offered by the Atlanta Columbia University Alumni Club, which is awarded annually to a senior in Atlanta's high schools.

Announcement of the winner was made Thursday by Robert Troutman, president of the alumni club, at the organization's luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Alternates named for the scholarship are Robert Handy, of 464 Montgomery Ferry drive, and S. Russell Bridges, Jr., of 855 Penn avenue. Efforts to obtain scholarships also for the two alternates are being made, it was said.

Duke is a senior in Boys' High school, and won the scholarship honor over a selected group of leading students of Boys' Tech and Fulton high schools. He is vice president of the senior class, major in the U. O. T. C. unit of his school and a member of honorary and debating societies.

The scholarship committee of the club was composed of Gordon Singleton, director of the statistics bureau of the state department of education, chairman; Dr. William P. Nicholson, Jr., Dr. R. P. Black of Georgia Tech; Charles B. Shelton, Mr. Troutman and H. Irving Schweppes, secretary of the club.

Duke, Handy and Bridges were guests at the club's luncheon. The club was organized last December by 75 Columbia alumni, and was able to secure allocation of a scholarship having an annual value of between $300 and $400. Columbia, as have most of the older colleges, has found it necessary to restrict the undergraduate body to about 2,000 students, thus taking in but 500 freshmen every year. As more than 2,500 apply each year for admission, entrance to the college is sometimes difficult and the scholarship makes certain of the winner getting into college.

COMPROMISE IN WORLD QUESTIONS IS CITED

New Orleans, April 11.—(AP)—Settlement of international questions arising between nations will come only through compromise and proper representation. Bessie C. Randolph, professor of political science, Florida State College for Women, told the American Association of University Women in convention here today.

In some sort of a compromise, Dr. Randolph predicted settlement of the controversy over the United States entry into the League of Nations, or at least ratification of the United States reservations.

America's primary objection to the league—the advisory opinion clause—is a technical question, the speaker said, and in her opinion would not have created such a stir had former Secretary Kellogg appeared before the league to explain the objection.

"The nations naturally thought the United States would have abused the right which prohibited questions being referred to the world court affecting the United States, without the consent of this country," she said. She explained that the reservation would work a hardship in matters coming up while the United States congress was not in session, which would necessarily have to be delayed until the session of congress for ratification by that law-making body.

"The matter is only adjustable by compromise," she said.

"Our fears do not rest in legal opinions or opinions of policy that might be handed down by the world court," Dr. Randolph said, "but it is the advisory opinion which is rendered without representation of this country which might not be carried out in a judicial way."

The entire matter might have been cleared," she said, "if Mr. Kellogg had presented reservations of the United States in person, and explained our position."

A number of colleges were awarded full membership in the association today. These were Albion college, Michigan; Baker university, of Kansas; Bradley Polytechnic institute, of Illinois; Carroll, of Wisconsin; Central college, Missouri; College of New Rochelle, New York; College of Pacific, California; George Washington, Washington, D. C.; Grove City college, Pennsylvania; MacCallister college, Minnesota; Mississippi State college; Mount Union college, Ohio; New Jersey College for Women; Oklahoma College for Women; Otterbein college, Ohio; Seton college, Pennsylvania; Shorter college, Georgia; St. Mary's of the Woods, Indiana; Southern Methodist university, Dallas, Texas; Woman's college, of Delaware; University of Georgia; University of Mississippi; Durham and Williamette, California.

WITWER DEMANDS HAROLD LLOYD PROFIT ACCOUNT

Los Angeles, April 11.—(AP)—Alleging that the Harold Lloyd Corporation had plagiarized his story, "The Emancipation of Rodney," in the filming of "The Freshman," H. C. Witwer, author of humorous works, today filed suit in federal court for an accounting of profits from the movie, estimated at $2,500,000.

AMPICO HALL—193 Peachtree St.

Pianos for every taste, income, or size of room. $18,000 to $325. The largest collection of fine pianos in the world. Home of the Mason & Hamlin, Knabe, Chickering and Ampico.

Pianos, too, have changed!

IN your home perhaps there lingers a piano twenty years old. "Its tone is still pretty fair" you may say.

Well, perhaps; but what about its looks? If you own an out-of-date piano you may be sure that people find it nearly as conspicuous, as mirth-provoking and as awkward as clothing of the same vintage.

Don't let an out-of-date instrument hint that you can't keep up with the times!

THIS SATURDAY—trade in the old piano for a handsome J. & C. FISCHER baby grand in the style of Duncan Phyfe... only $99.50 down

There is no greater name in American furniture than that of Duncan Phyfe, no single piece of furniture which would bring to your home so delicate and alluring a charm as this dainty baby grand. In Queen Anne furniture, the characteristic motif of the chair back is a vase (a); in Hepplewhite, a shield (b); Duncan Phyfe chose for his, the lyre (c), a classic design handed down from the glorious art of Greece. In the Duncan Phyfe baby grand this graceful lyre motif has been used in the desk (d) and in the upright supports (e). The legs are adorned with the delicate fluting for which Duncan Phyfe's work is famous. Only 5 feet, this little piano is so neat and compact that it may be snugly fitted even into a very small apartment; so chaste in design that it will blend attractively with any style of furniture. Its wood is rich, brown mahogany; its tone clear, mellow, sweet. $995.

SPECIAL NOTICE
May we call your attention this coming week to the famous "corner window" of Davison-Paxon where, in collaboration with Ampico Hall, will be seen one of the most beautiful displays yet created for the people of Atlanta.

Three years to pay the balance. Your old piano taken in trade, and a generous allowance made.

"Open Air"---Big After-Supper Sale East Point Store Tonite

Yes, ma'am; yes, sir—an "open-air" outdoor sale—that's exactly what we are planning for you tonight. Rather unusual, isn't it? Of course, it is. Here's the whole story: Just simply gotten in so much traded-in goods since this big sale started that we actually haven't room for them, and there's a big vacant lot next to our store in East Point, and we're going to run plenty of electric wires overhead, have it well lighted up tonight and invite you to come out and shop out in the cool open breezes.

East Point Store

Thousands upon thousands dollars' worth of splendid values that are to go at a few cents on the dollar of their actual worth. We've got 'em—you need 'em—and we want you to come out tonight after supper and visit this sale. Positively no sale will be made before 7:30. However, you may come before that time and make your selection, and there'll be plenty of good open-air music. Hundreds of your friends will be there, and of course you are not going to miss it. It's East Point's first "open-air" furniture sale. We will give easy terms and free delivery. Come a few minutes early.

Prep School Events Open Annual Southern Relays Today

One of these days the telegraphic feud between Jules Steinmann, owner of the New Orleans club, and Rell J. Spiller, of Ponce de Leon avenue, may become a classic. Just now it is growing into considerable proportions and the latest exchange of telegrams bears this out.

Spiller wired all club owners requesting permission to put Frankie Zoeller on the voluntarily retired list due to his sprained ankle. Heine sarcastically wired back:

"It is okay with me. It must be something awful to have a ball player with a sprained ankle."

Just for that, Spiller explains, he asked waivers on sixteen men all at once, an almost unheard of thing in Southern league baseball.

"I just wanted to make old Heine yell for Larry Gilbert to come and see what that crazy Spiller was doing," R. J. explained.

THE RIGHT TO YELL

Baseball players accept with an acquired philosophy the razzing crowds in the grandstand. They know that unless the gang is interested enough to scrap with the umpires or even to ride the home club for blunders, the gang will not come in at the gate. The inalienable right to make the welkin ring was extended to fandom the day the first professional baseball club hit the first ball.

We were talking the other day about the noise of a baseball crowd and how occasionally one man's voice by peculiar tone and volume can cut through the babel of sound. "Silver Bill" Stickney recalled that the most vociferous fan he ever heard in his sixty years of baseball was Bill Whiting, county clerk at Montgomery.

Mr. Whiting used to take the same seat every day at a certain corner of the bleachers and open up his lungs. He raked the Montgomery club with verbiage just as often as he thundered at the enemy. One day Mr. Whiting's oratorical artillery rose to such a thundering pitch that "Silver Bill" was sent over to quiet him.

"Mr. Whiting," began Silver Bill politely, "the ball club wants you to have a good time here, but your remarks are becoming so loud that it distracts their attention from the game and they can't play."

Mr. Whiting paused long enough to reply with equal politeness:

"Sir, I have to stay quiet all day long at my work and when I go home at night I have to be quiet. So I buy a ticket to come to this baseball game, so I can holler all I want to. I don't care if I'm disturbing the game, I can stay away but as long as I sit here I'm going to enjoy myself, sir."

Silver Bill made a profound bow.

"If that's the way you feel about it, sir, you can sit right there and holler all you please."

Now and then fans become profane. Now and then they come so personal in their jibes at players that police must interfere. But as a rule a baseball crowd is standing on ancient rights in pointing its collective nose at the moon and voicing its opinion of it.

NO CHANGE IN TECH SYSTEM

Some who wandered into Tech spring football scrimmages saw the young Yellow Jackets using no reversed quarterback in running their plays. Whence arose the report that Coach Alexander had decided to abandon his famous back-to-back formation.

No change in the football system is contemplated, Coach Alexander declares. He used only a punt formation play this spring while teaching his new backs how to follow interference and cut back. No effort was made to clutter up the candidate-mind with a lot of formations.

"They were just beginning to learn how to run from punt formation when the season closed," Bill Fincher said ruefully as equipment was being stored Wednesday night.

TWO GRAND NAMES

Two backfield names that have made football history at the Tech again will be seen in the papers next fall.

Pat Barron, the last of the clan, looked so good a ball carrier in spring drills that he is expected to break into action this season.

"Buck" Flowers—no relation of Little Buck, himself—is another halfback who stepped very well indeed. If the kids can live up to their predecessors of the name—but that is asking too much of them. Half as good would be plenty.

WORD FROM TOM ANGLE

Modest Tom Angle, ex-Cracker and ex-Yellow Jacket, who has made good with the Cubs, drops a line from the road, giving his rival catcher a break, the Cubs a pennant and a picture of the favored aggregation:

"We played the Detroit club a ten-game series, winning eight. Nolen Richardson played in a couple of the games and he looked great. Well, Ed, I've managed to fool the manager for this long anyhow. Have had a great spring, both in hitting and fielding. Not a base has been stolen on me and I have hit over .400 for the practice games. Grace, the other catcher, from Little Rock, also has had a great season. It's just a toss-up on which one of us stays. I may get the break or he may."

"I hope it will be me because I don't see what will keep this club from winning the pennant. It's like a college team, the spirit I mean. Every man is hustling to win. Hornsby is a prince and Custer and Wilson two of the hardest workers I have ever seen. And how they hit that ball. Stevenson and Grimm are also great hitters. And watch Fred Blake and Charley Root this year."

T. H. S. Tourney Glenna Collett In Final Round To Go Abroad

The Tech High tennis tournament has reached the finals, with Jackson and Bracewell left to fight for the championship. In the quarter finals Jackson eliminated Horvack, while Bracewell bested Davis. Jackson defeated Wilson, and Bracewell bested Keiser in the semi-finals, both losing one set to each. The finals will be played this morning at Candler Park at 9 o'clock. The winner will receive a small gold tennis ball offered by O. Cheney, principal of Tech High.

New York, April 11.—(AP)—Miss Glenna Collett, three times American women's golf champion, definitely has decided to go abroad next week, to compete in the British women's championship tournament, opening at St. Andrews, in Scotland, May 13. Reservations for her sailing next Wednesday, April 17, were made today. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ada Collett.

This will be Miss Collett's third attempt to lift the British women's title, a feat never yet achieved by an American player.

33 Teams Ready To Step at Flats

BY HERB CLARK.

Sounding of the gun promptly at 2 o'clock will start the seventh annual southern relay carnival on Grant field.

First on the list is the 100-yard dash, with 34 sprinters, the class of the short distance high school men of the South, entered. The battle is expected to be bitter from the first trial heat to the final dash down the lane.

Four of the races are special events for individuals, while the remainder of the schedule calls for relays. The 100-yard dash, both trials and finals, and the 220-yard low hurdles, which will likewise be run in sections, the winner to qualify for the final heat, are

Old Washington Jinx Is Threatening Yanks

Senators Show Much Improvement and Loom As Menace to Champs.

BY ALAN J. GOULD.

Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, April 11.—It will be nothing unusual if the Washington Senators justify their increasing strong support among the critics and develop into the principal threat to another victorious march by the world's champion Yankees.

Washington has been a jinx to New York teams to a greater extent than any other in recent seasons. The Senators broke up the first pennant winning streak of the Yankees in 1924, after three successes in a row by the men of Miller Huggins. In the fall of the same year Washington rallied to beat the New York Giants in one of the most dramatic of all world series battles.

Walter Johnson, an heroic figure in 1924, is now at the helm of the Washington club that hopes to upset another Yankee winning streak.

Much the same situation exists now, as in 1924, with the Yankees in quest of four flags in a row and the Senators gathering strength for another big campaign.

No team has emerged from the grapefruit belt with a record any more impressive than that of Washington. Added to which have been triumphs over the Giants, who are picked one-two by most any expert you can locate.

Johnson, different in type from Rucker Harris, nevertheless possesses the same faculty of inspiring his men. Old Barney knows his pitchers and has whipped the Senator staff into fine condition. The addition of Ruddy Meyer, hard-hitting infielder; the successful shift of Ossie Bluege to shortstop and brilliant work of two young outfielders, West and Barnes, in company with Goose Goslin, all form contributing factors in Washington's bright prospects.

Good for the Club.

Whatever success may come of the new night shooting plan, it certainly has its advantages for the poor about town. When he misses at night he can be back to the lights and fall back into the shadows to blush in the morning. The first attempt at night shooting the club will not attempt to run off a long program. The traps will be ready for practice at 7 o'clock and an hour will be spent by the shooters trying to find the targets in the glare of lights. At 8 o'clock sharp the popping of 20 shells will begin. If any of the shooters care to try handicap targets they may do so at will.

Michigan May Get 15-Round Bouts

Lansing, Mich., April 11.—(AP)—The state house of representatives today passed a bill permitting 15-round championship boxing bouts. Opposition is expected in the senate and Governor Fred Green is known to favor the measure. The maximum is 10 rounds.

NIGHT SHOOT AT GUN CLUB

Trapshooters Gather Tonight for First Event of This Kind Here.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

"The regular program of 50 targets will begin at 8 o'clock tonight."

That is not a typographical error nor is it a misstatement of fact. The members of the Atlanta Gun Club and the folks they bring with them will hold the first meeting of the "Night Hawk Target Club" tonight.

Even the most elastic of imagination is sadly taxed to vision this night shooting racket. It hardly seems possible that any human being with a little shotgun can hit a little clay target with only artificial light to aid him. But it has been done and what has been done is Entertainment for Ladies.

The new lighting system that supplies the hot stuff for the flood lights at the traps also feeds juice to the clubhouse and grounds which will be all lighted up tonight like a bridegroom on his wedding eve. The invitations sent out for the first night shoot hold something of interest to the ladies who usually are forced to just stand around while their husbands stand around and shoot.

Tables will be placed in the pavilion and to follow society copy, "bridge will be enjoyed by all."

Being convinced that the countless explosions of trap loads will not furnish enough noise the club has also installed a radio for the use of those who are statically inclined. Thus it will be possible to get the market reports, listen to the opera, get the exact time, take setting-up exercises and shoot clay pigeons all on the same night.

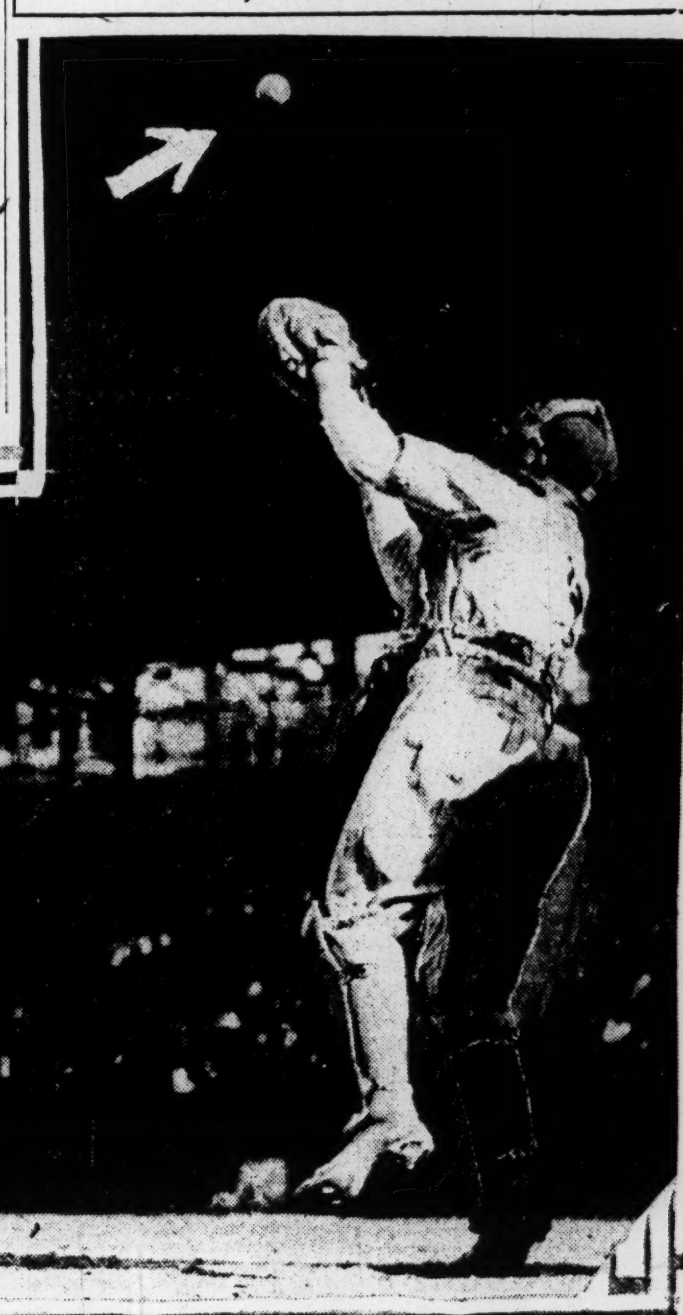

Good for the Club.

Whatever success may come of the new night shooting plan, it certainly has its advantages for the poor about town. When he misses at night he can be back to the lights and fall back into the shadows to blush in the morning. The first attempt at night shooting the club will not attempt to run off a long program. Durocher Gives Hand To Good and Niehoff

Yankee Kid Star Says Coaching Here Was Invaluable.

BY RALPH M'GILL.

Leo Durocher, who was a principal in baseball's greatest spring drama, the battle for the Yankee shortstop position, stood in the Cracker dugout in a reflective mood before the game Thursday afternoon.

Leo Durocher had won the shortstop berth in competition with Lyn Lary, the $100,000 sensation from Oakland, of the Pacific Coast League.

"Gee, what a sap I was in those days with Atlanta," said Durocher, reflectively, "and how fresh I was. I thought I knew it all."

Wilbur Good, Cracker manager, laughed. "I remember what a hard time I had teaching you where to get the ball on a man stealing," he said.

"You and Bert Niehoff helped me a lot," said the Yankee shortstop. Lots of times now I'll be standing at the plate and I'll recall things you and Bert told me. I couldn't have learned a lot faster but I couldn't be told anything I'm glad I got over that."

Durocher has been made over into a left-handed batter by Miller Huggins, Yankees manager. While with the Crackers Durocher was a right-handed batter. Bert Niehoff and Wilbur Good worked quite a bit of improvement in his hitting. Huggins changed his style.

"It was to take advantage of his speed," Huggins explained. "Batting from the left side he will drop some of them in the dirt and a lot of them will be beaten out."

Lary, tipped as the great find of the year, lost out in the shortstop fight because of certain faults in his play and because of his failure to hustle all the time.

"Lary charges the ball," said one of the Yankee coaches. "We haven't been able to get him out of that habit all spring. He charges them all. He fields from behind. That is, he gets the ball too far back between his legs and is off balance on his throws. It will take a lot of work to polish him up all the time."

Durocher hit .267 in 102 ball games with the Yankees last summer. Coaches say he will hit .300 this year. His style has improved and his ability to hit right-handed against left-handed pitching will be of assistance to his batting average.

Hay Fears Marks.

Miller Huggins, a bit reticent at always, declared, nevertheless, that he believed his Yankees would repeat in the race this year.

"I think the Athletics will again be the hardest club to beat," he said. "The Senators, the Browns and the Tigers will probably fight it out for third place."

This was in marked contrast to George Herman Ruth, the Great Man. The Great Man thinks the Athletics are out of the race and incapable of giving the Yankees a real battle. The Great Man also expressed confidence in himself and his ability to go on hitting them for some years to come.

Deal Brewing.

Miller Huggins needs some pitching. His statement to the contrary notwithstanding, he expressed the belief that George Piparis and Henry Johnson would win more games than they did last season. Johnson won 14. Piparis 24. Herb Pennock, the great left-hander, returns this season and is expected to win fifteen or twenty games. He was out with injuries last fall, a bad arm putting him out about mid-season.

The report was that the Yankees will soon make a deal involving five of their players. They will be exchanged for a pitcher, presumably a pitcher, now the property of another major league club. Huggins refused comment on the prospective deal.

STEP TAKEN TO CUT CLUB FOR OPENER

Move Bares Congested Roster—Team Plays in Macon Friday.

Retired List Is Zoeller's Prospect

Frankie Zoeller, Cracker lead off man, probably will be placed on the voluntarily retired list, when the team is cut to the player limit. Zoeller has a sprained ankle and will not be able to play for several weeks.

Courtesy waivers for this move have been asked by Cracker officials. It has been learned.

BY RALPH M'GILL.

Waivers have been asked on sixteen Cracker ball players.

Sixteen at one telegraphic asking is something of a record in Southern league baseball, they tell me. Three or four ball players is a pretty fair sized batch on which to ask waivers at once in this league, but sixteen is a mouthful.

Wilbur Good and R. J. Spiller made the first step Thursday toward cutting their squad down to the player limit of eighteen and the wholesale request for permission to sell, trade, or otherwise transfer sixteen men out of the Southern league was the result.

The names were not made public according to baseball usage and other legal complications. Sixteen subtracted from the number of players in the fading training camp leaves less than eighteen men; but the way of baseball are devious. A request for waivers does not necessarily mean that the ball player in question will be sold down the river.

With this move made, plans are going forward for shipping the ball club to Macon early this morning. They leave baseball business there this afternoon and Saturday.

Atlanta fans have seen the last of the Crackers until next Thursday when the club returns for the first game of the season in the local park. They open the season on Tuesday at Chattanooga.

The Yankee game Thursday was the final one on the home exhibition schedule. The Saturday Macon game will end the exhibition series. Light workout being scheduled for Monday before the departure to Chattanooga that evening.

Players who will make the trip to Macon are Outfielders Rosenfeld, Wade, Brainerd; Infielders Jones, Marrott, Haley, Sheehan, Poole; Catchers Yelle and Lopez; Pitchers Bonnelly, Bietzen, Rauch, Kiefer, Olsen, Robertson, Brice and Oldham.

Cracker Catcher To Spartanburg

Spartanburg, S. C., April 11.—(AP)—Spartanburg baseball club stock boomed and soared today as good news flowed into Mike Kelly's managerial sanctum.

Announcement was made that Cliff Knox, catcher, who played 23 games with the Spartanburg team last year, will be the first-string catcher in Norfolk, Va., wired Kelly tonight that season. Knox is being sent to Spartanburg by the Atlanta Crackers who have Lopez, of Brooklyn, as their regular catcher, and have sent Knox back to the local club. He hit .308 and fielded .975 with the Spartans last year.

Molt Craft, veteran left fielder, who has been holding out because of inability to secure a leave of absence from his policeman's position in Norfolk, Va., wired Kelly tonight that he will be here for the opening game Monday with the Knoxville Smokies.

Macon Gets Jim Richardson

Tech Freshmen Beat Aggies, 8-3

"Slim" Strickland buried stellar ball for the Georgia Tech freshmen baseball team at Grant field yesterday afternoon, holding Red Barron's Monro Aggies in seven hits, which were well scattered, except in the fourth frame, and the Rats won, 8-3.

The Tech yearlings started scoring in the first inning, when two singles, a double and two sacrifices were utilized to push two runs across the plate. Two more tallies were added in the third frame. Nickles' home run with the bases empty at the start of the inning opened the fireworks.

Barron's boys got their first score in the fourth frame, when Whitley doubled and scored on Baxter's single. Davidson hit into a double play just before Whitley was thrown out at first by Strickland.

The Jackets scored again in their half of this inning on a walk, two stolen bases, an error, and in the fifth frame when Barron's was safe on an error and went into the scoring column on Preston's triple.

The Aggies closed their scoring efforts with one run each in the seventh and eighth. A hit batsman, a sacrifice and a single accounted for the score in the seventh, while a pass to Whitley proved fatal in the eighth, as he came all the way from the initial sack on Waldrup's miff of Baxter's fly to deep left field.

New Orleans Boy Forging To Front in Southern Golf

GEORGE BUSH RALLIES FANS OF HOME CITY

Veterans of Links Praise Young Star; Started at Age of Six.

New Orleans, La., April 11.—Golfers who have designs on the southern championship or collegiate titles as well, may have to bow before a youthful player of this city who seems destined to get somewhere in the game this year. He's a chip off the old block whom the golfers of New Orleans know as none other than "Little George" Bush. He'll be "Little George" to the golfers here for a long, long time, because the players cannot realize that the "kid" has grown up.

"Little George" is a son of Reuben G. Bush, Jr., a former southern champion and who, as partner of Nelson Whitney, formed a formidable team for visiting golfers of prominence to beat over the local links in years gone by.

This young luminary is the talk of New Orleans' golfing colony. It seems as if it took the winning of the Louisiana state championship a year ago from Edwin McClure, to set "Little George" on his way. He has come back this season and has been playing remarkable golf.

IMPROVES CONSTANTLY.
"He seems to improve with every round," declared George Turpin, the veteran "pro." In a match with Nelson Whitney against Leo Diezel and Walter Hagen, Bush was the outstanding star for his accurate driving and his remarkable putting. Since then he defeated Fred Lamprecht and Harry Schwartz, the latter a son of a former southern champion also. Next to Bush, Lamprecht and Schwartz are outstanding among the golfers in New Orleans—of course, excepting the old master, "Nels" Whitney, who can still play with the best of them.

George Bush has his eyes on three titles this season—the Louisiana state at Shreveport; the southern and the national collegiate. He is a student at Tulane and will represent this university in the collegiate event.

Reuben G. Bush, Jr., the father of this rising star, takes much pride in his play. At the age of 6 "Little George" made holes in his back yard and tried to copy the style of his "dad." Finally he asked for some advice from his parent how to make a mishie shot for it was the short game

BLACK ROCK CLUB IS SUCCESSION OF GOLFING VISTAS

The short 10th hole is one of the hardest tests on the Black Rock course. The camera of George Cornett has caught the panorama of the hole from the tee across the lake to the green 135 yards away.

If anyone is qualified to test the greens at Black Rock, Pete Barnes is the man. Pete, who won the city municipal championship last season, is trying the ninth green.

This vista of woods and fairway is a scene toward the ninth tee at Black Rock. The background shows the grading work now being done in an effort to improve the fairway for short shots from the tee.

Black Rock Offers Beautiful Course

Newton Thomas, In Three Years, Builds Good Semi-Private Links.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

This is the story of a man's vision that would have made the Messrs. Alger and Henty blush with shame. It is the vision of Newton S. Thomas, owner and proprietor of the Black Rock Country Club.

Three years ago Newton Thomas stood on a hill overlooking the little lake that lies in the bottom of his lands southwest of Atlanta and saw a golf course and playground. And now, three years later, the vision of that day has become a reality.

The Black Rock Country Club stretches its 6,200 yards of fairways and greens around the lake in a profusion of green bordered by the white of dogwood and the red of the Judas tree.

From the time you enter the wooded drive to the clubhouse until you return to the pavement by another devious route, the Black Rock Country Club is a scene of beauty and a fitting monument to the ambition of a man.

SEMI-PRIVATE.

The Black Rock country club is a semi-private course and the only golf course entirely owned by one man in the southeast. The public is allowed to play over the new course but Mr. Thomas reserves the right to limit the play at any time. He is faced now with the problem of keeping the course from being over-crowded on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. Even on week days when industrious golfers should be hard at work, the course is usually crowded.

There is a reason for all this patronage. In fact, there are 18 good reasons numbered from one to 18. The first nine holes at Black Rock comprise just a "fair to middlin'" golf course, but those nine holes that run around and across the lake on the back side are a work of golfing artistry.

TOUGH PAIR.

No. 10 and No. 14 are particularly good golf holes. The first hole on the return nine is a 134-yard shot across an arm of the lake and a road just short of the green. The tee shot leaves the elevated tee between two banks of trees and a large tree guards the left approach to the green. It's the type of hole that rewards a good shot but hopelessly penalizes a poor one. That is golf.

The tee on No. 14 sets back in the trees nearly 100 yards from the fairway and two traps make the 475 yards to the green difficult enough for the most fastidious.

The greens in general are exceptionally good in view of the fact that play is continuous on them the year around. The one great asset of the Black Rock greens—an asset so seldom found on public and semi-public courses—is the great size of the greens. Every carpet on the course is huge.

Tech Lacrosse Team Plays Today

Georgia Tech's lacrosse team will make a trip to Columbus for the first game of the season Saturday against Fort Benning's clubmen.

The Jackets, with but seven veterans from the 1928 squad on hand, have been flushed with new material, and "Doc" Crenshaw has formed a fast team. Captain Jimmie Cook and his alternate, Bob Trammell, form the nucleus of the attack. Harrell Rusk and Coot Watkins, of football fame, have proved valuable additions to the squad, and with Tubby Sheppard compose an active and powerful defense unit.

TECH, CLEMSON CLASH TODAY ON CLAY FIELD

John Jordan Slated To Start for Jackets in First of Series.

Winding up their preparations for the coming of the Clemson Tigers with a short, stiff drill Thursday afternoon, Georgia Tech's baseball club went to the showers imbued with a grim determination that they had lost their last game of the season if their efforts could prevent another catastrophe such as those at Auburn and at Florida.

Clay has worked his charges hard in all of the practices held since the Jackets dragged back to the Flats last Monday after their disastrous road trip, and the Engineers have come into their own to all appearances, and should be able to hold the Tigers.

Today's game, the first of two, will get under way at 3:30 this afternoon, while Saturday's fray will begin at 3 o'clock.

The Jacket line-up will probably be the same as that which has taken the field in previous games, as none of the youngsters who had not made the grade in early season workouts have shown enough to put any of the regulars on the bench.

Joe Guyon has shown a good ball club in the games on the Clemson slate to date, and his charges split a two-game series at Athens last week while the Jackets were losing everything possible except the last Florida ball game. The Tigers will come here with high hopes of repeating the performance of the Clemson basketball quintet, which bumped the Jackets out of the running in the conference tourney.

Clay will probably nominate Joan Jordan, ace of the Jacket mound staff, as his pitching selection for Friday, though Quinn has also shown well in practice this week and may get the call over the veteran.

Kaplan Mat Captain.

Lexington, Va., April 11.—(AP)—Murrell E. Kaplan, of Louisville, Ky., has been named captain of the Washington and Lee wrestling team for 1930.

He was selected by the monogram men of the 1929 squad. Kaplan, wrestling his first year on the varsity squad, and a sophomore in the academic school, worked in the 125-pound class this year. He competed in six bouts, winning four out of five starts against southern conference opponents.

Old Man Hard Luck Takes Annual Toll

Many Major League Club Hit By Injuries As Season Nears.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Chicago, Ill., April 11.—In the way of problems on the eve of a season's inaugural, the big league pilots have a burden that almost sets a record. One or more mishaps or disappointments bobbed up, not only in a half dozen or so of the training camps, but in practically all of them, and the results of these things will be noticeable for the first month or so of the campaigns. Lineups will be juggled almost daily until the distracted leaders find the combinations they thought they had until the hazards of spring conditioning were encountered.

The one important club that escaped the bad luck that it always had encountered annually was the Cubs. For the first time in years nobody has broken a bone, nobody has been taken ill, and nobody has failed to show that he is not back at his best previous form. Those who watch closely for omens, good or bad, might be justified in regarding this as a sure sign that McCarthy is going to breeze through to the flag that Chicago has been waiting for. The trouble is that it is not too late even now for a jolt from Lady Luck.

The same sinister influence that hit away over the Pirates last spring and shot them from an almost sure championship outfit into a poor also ran continues to operate. Manager Bush found he couldn't use the combination he had counted upon for third and short. Neither has he found a suitable pair for the opposite side of the infield. He'll be laboring over these problems for half the season and then probably won't be satisfied.

MEADOWS THROUGH.

On top of this Bush has no reason to expect any pitching from Lee Meadows. From one of the league's leading hurlers in 1927, Meadows slipped so far that he voluntarily retired last season. He thought the worst would be him back, but he hasn't, and it is a pretty safe bet that the veteran he-spectacular gentleman is almost at the bottom of the hill. Meadows was the difference between a possible flag for the Pirates next fall and a berth in fourth or fifth place. There is no body to fill his shoes.

Misfortune has been none too lenient with the world's titled Yankees, but because Huggins has reserve strength such as no other team ever boasted nobody places emphasis on the cripples. Penock has yet to get his aged left arm in shape. Bengough, the Yanks' best batsman, isn't ready. Lazzeri is still proceeding cautiously with the throwing arm that was injured last year, but apparently is going to be all right.

YANKS STOCKED.
Under ordinary conditions the absence of Penock would be disastrous to the Yanks, but it so happens that Huggins has quite an arsenal of hurlers who, while, in the aggregate, are not knockouts, are at least good enough to win with a team of ball smashers and defensive men such as will be supporting them. Huggins has one of the best fielding teams in either league.

As against the ailments that have confronted the Yanks all spring, their rival club in New York—the Giants—has fared so well that McGraw might well have reason to think his club is too good to last for long. Not a distressing occurrence has marred the program, and about the only thing McGraw has on his mind just now is that second base job, which undoubtedly will annoy him all season. And if McGraw wants something more to worry about, he might keep in mind a prediction being made rather freely that neither Benton nor Lindstrom will put in the rip-snorting season he enjoyed a year ago.

If anybody actually has any sympathy to spare for a team it could be put in a strong place for the Senators to the Phillies. For years the Quakers have been struggling to get somewhere, although the club didn't deserve a better fate because of its absentee president and part owner whose sole interest was in his $25,000 salary.

PHILLY INFELD JOLED.

In to a couple of weeks ago it looked as if Manager Shotton would have an infield good enough for any team that also had a little pitching. There was nothing in the lineup that Thompson, Thewissen and Whitney. Then Thewissen was put out—maybe for half the season—in one of the many auto and bus accidents that hit camps here and there. The combination is broken up, and Shotton doesn't even own a capable man for substituting. About his only choice is Barney Friberg, who doesn't hit and who is none too reliable a fielder.

The White Sox, ill fated since the defeat of 1919, were hit at both ends and the middle. Blackburne went into camp with a number of promising youngsters and training proceeded in a lower family atmosphere. Then came injuries that for three weeks made it impossible for Blackburne to use anyone on which he had planned. Both the outfield and infield were hit and some of the pitchers still are in a questionable state.

REBELLION.

On top of this Blackburne was confronted with the ugly face of discontent. A cocky, impetuous kid—Art Shires—was given the captaincy with the hope that it would make him serious. It merely inflated him. He tried to paint a Texas town red and was flayed down. As his only defense, he howled loudly against the club and its manager. The complaints weren't justified, but when Shires started to broadcast some of his mates came along with grievances. The dissonance died down as soon as it started. As a matter of fact, it was not as serious a reports indicated, but it, at least, added to Blackburne's troubles.

Brooklyn's entire training trip was a matter of having or not having Glenn Wright for short, and there still is a chance that the former Pirate star's right arm is not the same as it was. Mack's Athletics have been handicapped by ailments, and they are serious enough to warrant a hint that the team may not come even close to chasing the Yanks.

PRIVATE GARDEN OPEN TO FLOWER LOVERS

Tulips at McBurney Home On View for Three Days

In spite of the multifarious duties of society women, many find time to pursue interesting diversions, such as cultivating gardens, and with this thought in view, Mrs. Edgar P. McBurney left instructions before her departure several weeks ago for Europe with Mr. McBurney that her tulip garden in the rear of her Peachtree road home, be opened to Atlanta flower lovers today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Through her thoughtfulness and spirit of generosity, although she is traveling in foreign lands at the present moment, the wonderful sight of 10,000 blooming tulips, corresponding in loveliness to every tint in the rainbow, will be on view for three days. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Warren (cousins, who are occupying Mr. and Mrs. McBurney's home, will act as official hosts during the three-day duration of admission to the gardens. When Mrs. McBurney started her garden several years ago it was planted for the purpose of inviting others to share the joy and pleasure with her when springtime rolls around each year and the tulips burst into bloom, an occasion looked forward to annually with decided interest. These well-known Atlantans have planned their visit to Holland during tulip time, and while there will purchase several varieties of bulbs to bring to America and plant in their Peachtree road garden.

Miss Jackson Weds J. B. Rudolph, Of St. Mary's, at Quiet Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Lena Rawlins Jackson and Joseph Bessent Rudolph, of St. Mary's, Ga., was quietly solemnized yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Enoch Jackson, on Atlanta avenue, in the presence of the two families. The Rev. Dr. Robert Ivey, pastor of the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, and Miss Caroline Jackson, the bride's niece, played the wedding march. She wore a navy blue crepe costume with a hat of navy blue straw. Her shoulder bouquet was of pink roses and white sweet peas. The bride's costume was fashioned of cream georgette crepe worn with a hat of Haku straw to match. She carried a shower bouquet of tea roses and valley lilies. Immediately after the marriage service, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph left for a trip to Florida and will return to St. Mary's to make their home. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jackson and a sister of J. C. Jackson, of Wilson, N. C., and J. B. and James E. Jackson, Jr., both of Atlanta. The bride attended the Girls' High school here and the Assembly Training school at Richmond, Va. She is widely known throughout Georgia as a prominent worker in the home mission field of the synodical division of the Southern Baptist church. The bride traces her ancestry on her paternal side to the late James Jackson, former governor of Georgia. Her paternal grandfather was the late Joseph Jackson, of Corinth, Ga., and her paternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Jackson, was before her marriage Miss Sarah Cook, of Cookeville, Ga. The late Thomas Rawlins, of Knoxville, Tenn., was the bride's maternal grandfather, her maternal grandmother being, before her marriage, Miss Fischer, of Harpers Ferry, Va. The groom is the youngest son of the late Joseph and Eleanor C. Bessent Rudolph, of St. Mary's, Ga. His family, on both sides, are numbered among the oldest and most prominent in St. Mary's. He is the junior member of the firm, Rudolph Brothers, a well-known merchandising establishment in that section of the state.

Atlanta Daughters of 1812 Plan Visit to National Capital in April

Atlanta Daughters of 1812 are interested in the sessions of the thirty-seventh annual associate council, held in Washington, D. C., in April, according to an announcement made today by Miss Nina Hornady, regent of the General Floyd Chapter. The business sessions begin on Tuesday, April 23, and other activities crowd the five-day period of the council. There will be a pilgrimage Saturday, April 27, to Fort Mifflin, in Maryland, where the "Star-Spangled Banner" was written and where the delegates will be entertained by the Maryland state organization. On Sunday there will be unveiled a tablet in the Presbyterian church in Alexandria, Va., in honor of Robert Allison, September 4, 1814. A memorial service in honor of departed members will be held immediately following the unveiling. On Monday afternoon will be a national defense conference at which prominent army, navy and marine corps officers will make addresses. Among the social activities are the opening reception on Monday night, including the interesting ceremonies of the unfurling of the state flags by the delegates or members from each of the states. On Tuesday night the annual banquet will be addressed by a speaker of note. The congress will be presided over by Mrs. Samuel Z. Shope, of Norberth, Penn., whose term of office expires but who will likely be a candidate for re-election. It is expected that the delegates will number some 300 from the membership of approximately 10,000 women and 137 chapters throughout the country will visit the new national home of the society which this year has been opened at 1401 Rhode Island avenue, Washington, and which is being furnished by various states which are collecting actual furniture and material used by the ancestors of the members of the society. Miss Nina Hornady, of Atlanta, is regent of the General Floyd Chapter and those Atlantans attending the council will be Mrs. Charles Rice, vice president national; Mrs. James Drake Weaver, state president; Mrs. Lucius McConnell, Mrs. Thomas Mell and Miss Nina Hornady.

Nichols-Du Pre Wedding Plans Prove of Wide Social Interest

Marietta, Ga., April 11.—The wedding plans of Miss Susan Laddson Nichols to William Anderson Du Pre, of Marietta, are of interest. The marriage will be solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, April 24, at St. James Episcopal church. The Rev. R. G. Tatum, pastor, will perform the ceremony in the presence of a representative gathering of southern society.

Miss Nichols has chosen as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Harlin Goodman, of Jacksonville, Fla. Miss Virginia Goodman, of Marietta, cousin of the bride-elect, will be the maid of honor. DeKalb Junior Music
Club Winners In Attendance Named

The DeKalb Junior Music Club, Miss Sara Strickland, president, met Wednesday afternoon in the club headquarters at 121 Adams street, Decatur. The attendance prize, the national federation emblem pin, offered by Miss Helen Knox Spain for the perfect record for the year, was won by the between Miss Sara Strickland and Willard Earle Field, Miss Strickland winning by the draw. Convention business was dispatched with lively enthusiasm. The club in combining the various activities and departments has a membership of 60 boys and girls and will enter several contests in the convention next week, beginning Thursday and closing Saturday. Miss Elizabeth Thrasher played Gustav Lange's transcription of the "Habenera" from "Carmen." Mrs. Ruth Hinman Carter, of Atlanta, gave the story of "La Traviata," with Victor record illustrations. Mrs. Carter recited a poem, and Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional.

Wedding Attendants. First to enter were the groomsmen, Leon Deek and Clyde Casey. The two bridesmaids, Miss Jessie Russell, sister of the bride, and Miss Pauline Livingston, sister of the groom, entered down opposite aisles. They were becoming models of taffeta, fashioned with bodice effect and full skirts featuring the graceful uneven hemline. They wore satin slippers to match their gowns and carried arm bouquets of pink roses tied with pink tulle. Miss Russell's gown was of light blue and Miss Livingston's wore yellow. Next to enter was Miss Blanche Russell, who was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a lovely model of orchid taffeta fashioned like those worn by the bridesmaids. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses tied with pink tulle. Miss Russell's gown was of light blue and Miss Livingston's wore yellow. Next to enter was Miss Blanche Russell, who was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a lovely model of orchid taffeta fashioned like those worn by the bridesmaids. The election of officers was held and the following were elected and installed: President, Mrs. Ed F. Bond; first vice president, Mrs. Lewis J. Bailey; second vice president, Mrs. George James; third vice president, Mrs. John S. McClelland; fourth vice president, Mrs. Frank Golden; recording secretary, Mrs. E. Christie, Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. E. Murphy. The Kle Club is the ladies' auxiliary of Atlanta Lodge B. P. O. E. and the sole purpose of this organization is to help the Elks in the charity program. The club has accomplished wonderful things under Mrs. Bond's leadership in the past and plans are being formulated and committees appointed with a view of continuing this work in the future.

ATLANTANS' FATHER
DIES IN FLORIDA
AFTER ACCIDENT

Carter John Jackson, 79, father of William C. Jackson and Miss Rebecca Jackson, of Atlanta, died early Thursday morning at a Tampa hospital of injuries received Tuesday morning when he was struck by a motor truck. Mr. Jackson was native of Alexander City, Okla., and lived there until about four years ago when he went to Tampa to make his home with a daughter, Mrs. John W. Wilbanks. W. C. Jackson is a member of the Atlanta firm of Richardson, Jackson and Davis, accountants, and Miss Jackson also is connected with this firm. Mr. Jackson also is survived by a brother, P. A. Jackson, of Dayton, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. E. P. Duncan, and Miss Joanna Jackson, of Alexander City. Miss Mey Haverly and her sister, Mrs. Russell Bellman, have returned from New York city. Mr. John K. Ottley leaves today for a two weeks' visit to New York city.

Russell-Livingston Wedding
Solemnized at Church Ceremony

Characterized by beauty and simplicity was the marriage of Miss Georgia Gertrude Russell and Albert LeSueur Livingston, which was solemnized at 6 o'clock last evening at St. John Methodist church. Dr. Sterling P. Wiggins, presiding elder of the North Atlanta district, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and lilies. The altar was banked with palms, interspersed with baskets of Easter lilies, and seven-branched candelabra holding lighted tapers. Tall wicker floor baskets holding lilies and snap dragons were placed at either side of the altar. The pews reserved for the family were marked with white satin ribbons. Preceding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Enille Parmelee, organist, including "Veni, O Love Song," "La Paradisum" and "Bridal Song," by Dubois and Sodermann's "Swedish Wedding March," Mrs. Ermine Everett, soloist, sang "Because," and "Sweetest Story Ever Told." The bride party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, and Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional.

They were becoming models of taffeta, fashioned with bodice effect and full skirts featuring the graceful uneven hemline. They wore satin slippers to match their gowns and carried arm bouquets of pink roses tied with pink tulle. Miss Russell's gown was of light blue and Miss Livingston's wore yellow. Next to enter was Miss Blanche Russell, who was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a lovely model of orchid taffeta fashioned like those worn by the bridesmaids. Next to enter was Miss Blanche Russell, who was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a lovely model of orchid taffeta fashioned like those worn by the bridesmaids. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses tied with pink tulle. Miss Russell's gown was of light blue and Miss Livingston's wore yellow.

The bride entered with her brother, Clyde J. Russell, who gave her in marriage and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Gray Lambert. She was radiantly lovely in her wedding gown of white satin and lace fashioned with a tight fitting bodice and full skirt, which fell ankle length in the back. The soft veil was of princess lace caught to the back of the head with a wreath of orange blossoms. She wore white satin slippers and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Charles Russell, mother of the bride, wore a becoming model of blue georgette crepe and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Clyde Russell, the bride's sister, was lovely in peach chiffon. Her corsage bouquet was of sweetheart roses. The bride's going-away gown was a ensemble of tan kasha cloth. She wore a close-fitting bar of tan straw to match. Mr. and Mrs. Livingston left immediately after the ceremony on a motor trip through Florida, and after May 1 will be at home at 425 Florida avenue.

There are a dozen members of city council, three aldermen, four members of the Atlanta board of education and the superintendent of waterworks to be selected.

Agnes Scott Senior

STOCK PRICES RISE AS MARKET BEGINS ADVANCE OVER ENTIRE LIST

Bears Uncover Few Weak Spots During Early Hours

North American Co. reported that electrical output of subsidiaries for the first quarter gained about 14 per cent over the like period of last year. It was said in copper trade circles that red metal prices had been stabilized after the recent cuts by customers smelters. Conspicuous in the upturn in stocks were such leading issues as American Can, American Telephone, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, and United States Steel, which sold up about 2 to 5 points. United States Steel rose above 100 for the first time since the reserve buyback of its stock in 1927.

New York, April 11.—The stock market made the most substantial advance since the upturn a week ago, as an assortment of pleasing earnings statements and expectations of a sensible reduction in brokers' loans sent shorts to cover and promoted ambitious operations for the advance throughout the list. The day's developments, however, were not sufficient to bring about a general public participation, and the day's advance was limited to a narrow margin.

Bears uncovered a few weak spots during the early hours, but the market recovered from the initial decline. The day's advance was limited to a narrow margin.
